Security Trust Branch Is Looted For Second Time In 60 Days

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—Two daylight bank robberies were staged almost simultaneously shortly before noon today, in which two police officers were seriously wounded.

From a branch of the Security Trust & Savings Bank at West Adams street and Halldale avenue, three unmasked men obtained $1,600.

The bank robbers covered J. L. Coons, manager, J. H. Sipelli, assistant manager, and four other employees, and then made their escape in an automobile. This is the second time this bank has been looted within the past sixty days.

The second holdup, which resulted in the wounding of two policemen, occurred at the Seventh and Hoover street branch of the Merchants National bank.

The wounded officers are E. W. Forbes, a member of the crime crushers division, and Patrolman Glen Bond, who had been stationed in the bank to frustrate its robbery. A passer-by was also injured. According to Officer Forbes, two suspicious looking men entered the bank. Forbes noticed them, and anticipated their intention. He and Bond drew their guns and waited for the bandits to start firing. In the gun battle which ensued, Forbes was struck a glancing blow on the head, while Bond was shot twice through the chest. He is not expected to live.

Bank employees and customers ducked behind desks and hid in the corners as bullets whizzed about them. The robbers stood their ground in the doorway for some time, returning the officers' fire, until their weapons were empty. Then they fled and escaped in a waiting automobile.

Thomas A. Thomas, a plumber, was passing the bank when the gun battle started. He ducked beneath a window sill, but a bullet struck him in the leg.

Every available member of the Detective flying squadron was dispatched to the scenes of the two holdups in an organized effort to round up the robbers.

Order Secrecy in Diploma Inquiry

Prosperity Hits Shasta; Gets First Building In 40 Years

REDDING, Cal., Feb. 20.—Hark, ye calloused handed searchers of the quartz veins—they're building a building in Shasta.

Old Shasta, where the pinhead of destruction succeeded the gold bar of wealth, where the dream of the gold followed by the dusty fall of buildings of the "big town" that was, is seeing a fine new residence built.

George Krieske is the man who has broken the spell of forty years, during which there were no building permits entered in the soiled old ledger in the town hall, no cheery rap-rap of the hammer driving shiny new nails.

Shasta for more than a quarter of a century gave her boards and joists and rafters for the rising buildings of Redding and Keswick, but they'll be no more of that.

For George Krieske is building himself a nice new home and—

Hold Joint Funeral For Eleven Victims Of Poisoned Dinner

These coffins contain the bodies of ten adults, and a baby, locked in death's embrace in the arms of its mother. They were stricken by botulism, a poison, after eating canned beans served at a dinner given by Reinhold Garber, at Albany, Ore. Joint funeral services from the same church were held for the victims.

DEMOCRATS FORCE THROUGH TAX ON STOCK DIVIDENDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Democrats scored their second victory in two days when the house this afternoon adopted the Garner Stock Dividend Tax bill by a vote of 162 to 112.

Profits from the sale of stock dividends, regardless of when the stock is sold, would be subject to the regular income tax rates under the amendment offered by Representative Garner, Texas.

Under the present law profits from the sale of stock dividends more than two years after the dividends are issued are subject only to the capital assets tax of 12½ per cent.

Farmers and small merchants are included within the benefit of the earned income tax reduction section of the tax bill by an amendment proposed by Representative Garner, which was adopted by the house today by a vote of 141 to 134.

Only 274 votes out of a total of 435 in the house, were cast on the amendment and Republican leaders hoped to be able to reverse today's action when a record vote is taken in the house proper.

The Mellon income tax reduction plan was knocked out and the Democratic substitute, with a maximum surtax of 44 per cent, written into the revenue revision bill by a coalition of Democrats and Insurgent-Progressive Republicans in the house late yesterday.

The vote on the adoption of the Democratic rates was 222 to 196, a majority of 26 on the basis of the 418 members present and voting, and four more than a majority of the entire membership of 435 in the house.

PROSECUTOR URGES WOMAN'S ACQUITTAL

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—The plea of a prosecuting attorney in the trial of a wife for the killing of her husband resulted in a verdict of acquittal being returned within five minutes by a jury in a superior court here.

Mrs. Anna Sternacher admitted shooting and killing her husband in a death struggle with her life or his and perhaps that of her two sons, at stake. She said it culminated a life of torture in which Sternacher, a cobbler, beat her daily because she would not lead a life of shame for his material benefit.

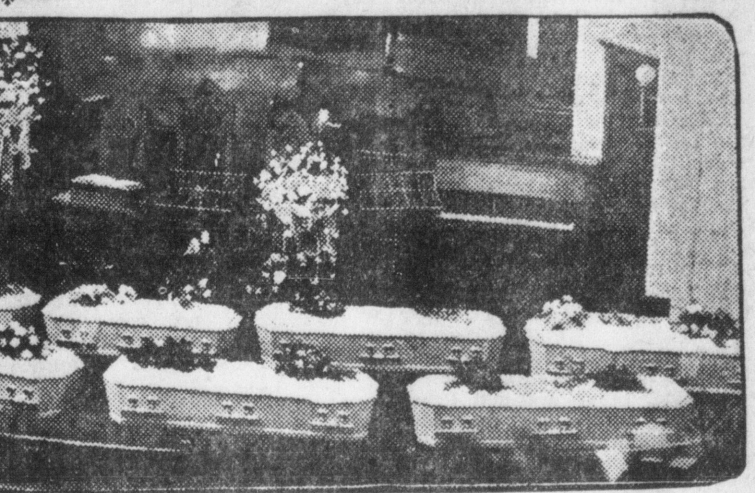

"If I were the thirteenth juror," Assistant District Attorney Skill on told the jury, "I would vote for the acquittal of the defendant."

The jury of nine women and three men did just that on the grounds of justifiable homicide.

INVALID ROUTS ARMED MANIAC

Completing negotiations for purchase of three and a half acres of land on the southwest corner of Grand and Washington avenues, from J. W. Law, the Santa Ana Valley Hospital association today was giving consideration to plans for starting building operations on a new hospital within thirty days, according to a statement made here today by Dr. C. D. Ball, president of the hospital organization.

Tentative plans contemplate the construction of the first unit of the new hospital plant to include capacity for fifty beds, with full kitchen facilities for the larger plant that will develop when an additional unit is provided.

Dr. Ball said that at this time he could not say how much the new unit will cost. The amount of money that will go into its construction, he said, would depend largely on the amount of additional money that may be raised by sale of stock.

No Debt On Plant Now

Declaring that the new site and the old hospital plant on Washington avenue are free of debt, he said the company had about $30,000 in cash and an equal amount in pledges. Continued effort will be made to dispose of more stock in the company, Dr. Ball added.

According to the president, it is intended to move the buildings of the old plant to the new site and utilize them to the very best advantage until such time as money may be available for completing the hospital. It was stated by the physician that the new unit will be devoted almost exclusively to the surgical cases and that removal of the old hospital building would make about twenty-five more rooms available for other hospital cases, giving a total capacity of seventy-five beds.

"The demand is such that we must have at least seventy-five beds," said Dr. Ball.

Sees Early Meeting

It is expected that the board of directors, the building and other committees of the association, and some of the finance campaign committees will be called into conference at an early date for further consideration of plans concerning the project to provide this community with a modern hospital.

Several sets of plans already have been submitted to the association, Dr. Ball said, but as yet none has been definitely accepted. "We will attempt a quick clean up of the drive for stock sales that has been in progress and when this has been finished we will know more definitely what can be done in the building program," said the president. "It is possible we may make arrangements for mortgaging our property to provide more funds for building than will be at our disposal through the sale of stock."

USES CRUTCH TO BATTLE INTRUDER

Demented Knife Wielder Beaten Into Submission After Slashing Youth

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—Battling with a demented intruder who broke into the residence and attempted to ascend the stairway, M. E. Leighton was stabbed and probably fatally injured today.

The crazed man was later identified as G. E. Moore, missing from his home at 222 West F street, Wilmington, since Sunday.

Leighton was slashed in the breast with a carving knife which the attacker wielded as he battled to climb the stairs, where Leighton's aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Leighton, and his fiancée, Miss Florence Turbell, watched the fight in terror.

Although probably mortally wounded, young Leighton, recently injured in an automobile accident, beat Moore into submission with a crutch.

When the Leightons were awakened by the sound of a man breaking into their home, the son went to the head of the stairs and called out: "Who's there?"

"Who cares?" was the reply. As the intruder attempted to climb the stairs, young Leighton beat him back with a crutch, which he was forced to use because of injuries sustained on a recent hunting trip.

The maniac went to the kitchen where he armed himself with carving knives and returned to climb the stairs. Young Leighton by this time was reinforced by Miss Turbell, who makes her home with the Leightons, and his father. A shoe and a chair were hurled at the intruder, but failed to stop him.

Rushing young Leighton, the crazed man plunged a knife into his chest. In the ensuing battle, the assailant suffered a broken leg and serious body wounds. At a private hospital, young Leighton is not expected to live, it was reported.

Big Supply Of California Booze Seized

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 20.—A refrigerator car said to contain bonded liquors worth $200,000 was seized in the Denver railroad yards this morning.

The consignment of "non-intoxicating wine" was being shipped from California to Cleveland, Ohio.

Seals on the car had not been broken, but officials had peered into the car through an opening hole and said they could see the 1,000 cases of bottles with many of the 'non-intoxicating' labels showing. Seizure of this car was said to be part of a plan to break up a nation-wide booze ring which is believed to have been shipping intoxicating liquors by the railroads through Denver for more than a year.

DENIAL OF FRAUD IS HURLED

Senator Elkins, West Virginia, Tells of Buying Sinclair Stock

DECLARES PUBLIC HAS GONE CRAZY

Asserts Transactions Legitimate and Says Money Lost In Deals

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Senator David Elkins, West Virginia, today told the United Press that he had dealt in Sinclair Oil stocks through Benkart and company, the New York brokers, whose books were examined yesterday by the Senate Teapot Dome committee.

Elkins' name was found on the books, it has been stated. Elkins said he bought and sold several hundred shares of Sinclair Oil stock.

"Certainly I bought and sold Sinclair Oil stocks," said Elkins. "I dealt in several hundred shares through Benkart & Co., and I don't care who knows it. I buy and sell any kind of stock I want. There is no law against it and my office does not prevent my dealing in stocks."

"I did not have any tip from anyone on Sinclair Oil and I did not go into any pool. If I had gone into a pool I probably would have lost more money than I did."

Tells of Deals

"I have not the time nor the money to deal extensively in stocks but I deal far more extensively in Bethlehem Steel and in Reading railroad stock than I did in Sinclair oil."

"If that is a crime let them go holler their heads off. The public seems to have gone crazy and there is a lot of hot air in the senate about this oil thing but it will not disturb me because my transactions were absolutely legitimate."

"That's for the committee to find out," he said, referring to the Senate Teapot Dome committee. Following Elkins' personal statement the following was issued from his office here by his secretary, W. C. Fontana:

Up to Committee

"That's for the committee to find out," he said, referring to the Senate Teapot Dome committee. Following Elkins' personal statement the following was issued from his office here by his secretary, W. C. Fontana:

"Senator Elkins has for the past 15 or 20 years been buying and selling stock through various brokers in Washington, Philadelphia and New York. In many cases, he purchased on margin and in others bought stock outright, feeling he had a perfect right to do so, as same as if he bought an automobile or real estate and sold it."

"It is true that he purchased from time to time various shares of Sinclair Oil stock just as he did various other listed securities, particularly cotton."

Denies Evasion

"Senator Elkins has been confined to his bed for two weeks with grippe. He has evaded no one. He is willing to have his stock transactions opened to every one and he is willing to help prosecute anyone who conspired against the government."

"Senator Elkins feels that is a big joke as far as his name is concerned."

It was said Elkins purchased probably between $300 and $1000 shares of the Sinclair stock. His speculation during the year 1922, when the leases were granted showed a profit but not a penny of it came from the Sinclair purchases, it was pointed out.

It is the understanding among Elkins' friends here that he will not seek re-election to the senate next year. Guy D. Goff, now assistant attorney general, will make the race for the Republican senatorial nomination and this, it is stated by Elkins' friends, is approved by Elkins.

Son of Ex-Solon

Elkins is the son of former Senator Elkins.

105 Miles Per Hour Is Made by Electric Locomotive in Test

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 20.—In a speed test here 105 miles an hour was attained by an electric locomotive built by the General Electric Co. and the American Locomotive works for the Paris-Orleans railroad in France, before 200 steam and electrical railroad men from all parts of this country. Only the shortness of the test track at the Erie works prevented the engine being sent at a speed which should reach 125 miles an hour, according to General Electric officials.

STRESS BETTER MAILING HERE AS P. O. AID

"If Better Mailing Week, which is this week, results in reducing the number of letters sent each week from the Santa Ana post office to the Dead Letter office it will have served a useful purpose, so far as our post office is concerned," said Postmaster T. E. Stephenson, in referring to the announcement from Washington D. C., to the effect that this week has been set apart as Better Mailing Week.

"The post office department has begun its better mailing campaign among postal employees, first," said the postmaster. "That is, it places emphasis upon the necessity of clerks and carriers doing everything within their power to give better service."

"Its campaign, however, will next go to the public."

The department this week is sending out to post offices daily a resume of one of the division's work. The purpose is to get postal employees into thorough sympathy with and understanding of the department.

"The most important thing that a patron of the post office can do to aid the post office in giving prompt and efficient service," said the postmaster, "is to see that every piece of mail is properly addressed, with box, street or rural route number. That is particularly important in Santa Ana because hundreds of addresses are changed each month. Any person who moves from one address to another ought to see to it that his correspondents have the new address. That is particularly important in relation to banks and other business houses."

"At this time about 100 pieces of first class mail are sent each week to the Dead Letter office. If the letter bears a return address, it is sent to that address instead of to the Dead Letter office. Numbers of these letters that go to the Dead Letter office, no doubt, each week were never intended for Santa Ana. The sender wrote Santa Ana instead of the name of some other city. Many of those letters bear the names of streets that are not in Santa Ana."

$63,131 BID WINS BRIDGE CONTRACT

The contract for constructing a steel and concrete bridge across the Santa Ana river in connection with the new coast boulevard was today in the possession of the McKay Engineering company.

That concern's bid of $63,131 was accepted late yesterday by the board of supervisors from among six bids, which ranged as high as $88,800.

GIVES FINE, 5-DAY TERM TO SPEEDER

Moses Ochoa of Anaheim today was fined $25 and sentenced by City Recorder W. F. Heathman here to serve five days in jail on a charge of reckless driving. Jaynes lodged Ochoa in the county jail where he later was released in lieu of $50 bail.

Other sentences imposed by Judge Heathman and the charges follow:

Henry McClendon, thirty days, vagrancy; Frank Young, $10, drunkenness; J. W. Plate, $15, speeding across an intersection; Paul Reed, $15, speeding; Martin Callers, $15, speeding; Frank A. Thomason and H. C. Kenagy, $5 each, parking overtime in the two-hour zone; Don S. Minklen, $3, obstructing an alley; Mrs. Anna Carrisoza and Charles Crum, $2 each, parking in the restricted district; and P. J. Dillon, $2, parking overnight in the business district.

No Clues As List Of Loot Is Bared

Police have not yet found any clues in the burglary Sunday night of Raymond Marsile's home at Seventeenth and Tustin streets, they reported today.

After a careful checking of missing articles, Marsile today reported the loss of two suits of clothes, several silk shirts, his pocketbook containing about $8, his wife's purse containing about $4, a silk kimono, suede shoes and a five-pound box of chocolates. Entrance to the home had been gained by a French door which was forced open.

Marsile's alreadd dog was battered about the head.

'WOOLING PLACE' IS ANNOUNCED BY CHURCH

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—In the proposed Broadway Temple—a 4 million dollar church, dormitory and apartment building—to be built on Washington Heights, the Rev. Dr. Christian F. Reiser, pastor, plans to create a courtship center for the young people of upper New York.

Dr. Reiser explained his plans for stimulating matrimony at a luncheon at the Pennsylvania hotel yesterday, attended by fifty women guests of the women's auxiliary of the temple committee.

It is Dr. Reiser's hope that the five hundred young men living in the projected dormitory may meet the attractive young women of his parish and the community in the church's social rooms; that many of them may marry and move into the church's apartments and there bring up families of children to use the temple's playgrounds and roof garden day nursery.

"Can't Meet Right Sort," said Dr. Reiser, "most old bachelors," said the militant Methodist pastor, "are bachelors because they can't meet the right sort of girls. This is particularly true in New York City, where so many young men and women are lonely. What we want to do is to make it possible for the young men living in our dormitory to meet the girls of our neighborhood in social activities, 'gym' classes, home talent plays and such affairs."

"Then, when the young folks marry, they can move into our apartments. There we're going to relieve the young mothers with small incomes of their slavery to the babies. They can take them up to the day nursery on the roof, turn them over to competent supervisors and go downtown shopping, to the theater or stay at home and do their housework unhampered."

No Home Without Babies
Dr. Reiser is a "harpist," he says, on the idea of young couples rearing families.

"You can't build a home without babies," he asserts. "Without them it is only a boarding house. Our roof garden playgrounds will be a little bit of heaven, a way up in the purest air in Manhattan."

The minister is searching hopefully for a wealthy man who will buy one-half million dollars worth of bonds to build the temple tower as a memorial to a son.

Navy Is Hampered For Men to Handle Battle Cruisers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Operation of the United States fleet during the fiscal year was "seriously hampered by the insufficiency of the allowed personnel," Admiral R. E. Coontz, chief of naval operations during that period, declared in his annual report.

Necessity of finding crews for several new light cruisers commissioned during the year, he added, required cutting down of complements at submarine bases and elsewhere to a point that meant loss of efficiency.

ANAHEIM MEN OUT TO GET FACTORIES

ANAHEIM, Feb. 20.—Anaheim's future as a leading industrial city of the Southland was assured last night.

More than 300 men, vitally interested in the welfare of the community gathered at the Elks club at the greatest industrial meeting ever held in Anaheim. James Allen Geissinger, pastor of the Methodist White Temple, business man and expert on the merits of the world, was the principal speaker and outlined for the guests of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce just what the coming of industry will mean to every man, woman and child in the Anaheim district.

There were other five-minute talks by the representatives of the three transcontinental railroads entering Anaheim, music and community singing, but the big theme of the night was the coming of industry.

Harry D. Riley, president of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, presided and outlined for the audience the plans that have been perfected thus far for the raising of the huge sum which will enable the Community Investment company to exercise its option on the forty acres of land now the property of the Anaheim Sugar company.

Although there were no subscriptions taken at the dinner, the two teams, the Blues and Greys started working this morning under the leadership of Oscar Renner and R. B. Young. The dinner was given chiefly for the purpose of outlining the campaign plans so that every man will assist in whatever manner he may best do so, to make of Anaheim one of the great industrial centers of the Southland.

The widespread interest in the Anaheim campaign was indicated at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. Representatives of construction companies' prospective manufacturers and others interested in industry have called in person and by telephone for more details concerning the local plan of industrial expansion. This has had the effect of encouraging the local industrial committee to such an extent that with the actual acquisition of the site the work of obtaining desirable manufacturing concerns will be only a matter of a short time.

President Harding Favored China, Is Claim of Minister

PEKIN, Feb. 20.—Speaking at the unveiling of a memorial tablet to the late President Harding, erected by Chinese subscriptions, in the Central Park here, Jacob G. Schurman, United States minister to China, read a portion of a personal letter which President Harding wrote him April 1, 1922, regarding the Washington conference.

In his letter, the late President said: "I really think we have done things which will be an exceedingly great help to China, and, as you know, they have all been done with utter unselfishness. We are all hoping that most beneficial results will follow, in every way. If the Chinese government wishes to strengthen and fully assert itself, the provisions wrought in the conference must be exceedingly encouraging."

Minister Schurman said that President Harding wanted to see China freed from foreign restrictions and endowed with full powers of sovereignty at the earliest moment. While some of the provisions of the Washington conference did not fulfill this, Mr. Harding believed that the prospects were bright for an early consummation of all provisions.

SOLVE SECRET OF DAMASCUS BLADES

LONDON, Feb. 20.—The age-old mystery of how Damascus blades were tempered has at last been solved.

The so-called Damascus blades were made in India, but got their name from the market whence they were distributed to the West. For a thousand years and more no Western smith has been able to account for the steel contained in them, much less reproduce it.

The scimitar of Saladin, famed in history as the finest blade ever drawn from a scabbard, has for many hundred years been the traditional symbol of perfection in the steel temperer's art.

Now the X-ray, under the direction of such men of science as Sir William Bragg and others, has brought to light the secret of how this famous blade was manufactured.

"The use of X-rays to look into the structure of crystals has explained all sorts of things we could not understand before," Sir William said.

"Nowhere is this shown more than amongst metals."

The distinguishing property of an atom of a metal, according to Sir William, is that it is always ready to part with one or two electrons. When melted metal solidifies, its atoms nearly always pack into the simplest possible form, something like a triangular pyramid of cannon balls. Such a pyramid is full of regular alleyways.

Among these minute alleyways in the metallic crystal the free electrons move easily, and the moving electrons form an electric current. When the metal is heated, the atoms swing about more and more rapidly, with the result that the electrons find their way blocked.

The steel of Saladin's sword, Sir William said, originally contained great numbers of needle-like crystals of cementite, a compound of three atoms of iron with one atom of carbon. These needles were exceedingly hard.

The Indians of old found that they could work the metal if they kept it exactly at a certain temperature, so they heated it up in their charcoal furnaces, taking it out now and then to give it a tap or two, then heating it again, and so, with infinite patience, producing a blade.

Now, a thousand years later, by utilizing the X-ray, it is discovered that the persistent smith had beaten each of the needle-like crystals into a minute ball of intense hardness.

But even with the knowledge of how it is done, no modern smith will guarantee to hammer out a sword of a fine a temper as the scimitar of Saladin.

2,000,000 Tramps In U. S. Maintain Place of Meeting

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—"Chicago is the recognized 'Hobohemia' of America."

"Two million knights of the hobo kingdom have the seat of their government here."

"Although this government has no authority, its lure is evident to the impatient eyes of youth. Herein lies the menace."

"This, in substance, is a report on 'The Origin of Crime,' submitted to the Chicago crime commission by a committee of Chicago professors."

"One of the weakest spots in Chicago's program for development of good citizens," the report stated, "is giving the tramp or hobo permission to flourish here."

"There is probably an army of 2,000,000 tramps in the United States," the report adds, "and Chicago is the chief rendezvous."

"In the life of the tramp there is something strongly romantic, as viewed by the eyes of the 'teen aged boy. It is a life of variety and adventure. It calls loudly to the youth, particularly if he is not too strongly bound by association and environment."

"In Chicago the places where the boys may meet these aimless transients are not different than any other city, but are more numerous," the report said.

The report recommended measures recommended by the committee were: Co-operation with "hobohemia" hotel managers to prevent boys frequenting their places; the patrolling of "flop" headquarters by plainclothes men, and stringent enforcement of working certificate laws.

Elmer E. Heidt, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the Automobile Club of Southern California, today reported the theft of his automobile which was taken from St. Ann's Inn at about 8:30 p. m. yesterday.

"Just because I've warned other automobile owners how to guard against theft, it's a dirty trick for the thieves to take out their spite on me for trying to spoil their game," Heidt told his friends today.

The automobile club has been conducting an active campaign against persons who have been stealing or stripping cars.

INTIMATE TALK IS GIVEN BROTHERHOOD

Elimination of "isms" and great manifestation by men of interest in the Kingdom of God, were declared necessary to make the United States a real Christian nation by the Rev. A. B. Fry, pastor of the South Methodist church at Long Beach, in a discourse before the Men's Brotherhood of Spurgeon Memorial church here last night.

The Rev. Mr. Fry conducted the services held at various churches here during the week of prayer in January.

The minister talked intimately to the sixty men present last night and told them a great many facts that impressed his auditors with his declaration that Protestant churches were not making the advances they should to maintain this nation as an ideal Christian nation.

The clergyman's discussion was of such an intimate nature that he made public the declaration that what he said was not for publication.

He accepted the opportunity to say that Spurgeon Memorial church was regarded as the leading church of the South Methodist denomination in this conference district and that appointment to the pastorate here was the ambition of every minister in the district.

Vocal selections were rendered by T. C. E. Walls, accompanied by E. D. Evans, both of Anaheim, and by Jesus Garcia of Santa Ana, who played his own accompaniment on the guitar.

A chicken dinner, with hot biscuits and other accessories, was served by the women of the church.

Chapman, Fullerton capitalist, receive the Republican nomination for vice president of the United States, Alex Brownridge, secretary of the Orange County Coolidge club, today issued a call for a meeting of this organization for the purpose of endorsing this suggestion.

"A meeting of the Orange County Coolidge club will be held tomorrow night at McFarland's cafe, in Fullerton," said Brownridge, "and we have extended an urgent invitation to all members of Coolidge clubs to attend this meeting, scheduled for 8 p. m."

This meeting has been called for the purpose of endorsing C. C. Chapman's candidacy. This is a high honor and we are not unduly mindful of the complaint, Chapman, we feel, would make an ideal running-mate for Calvin Coolidge."

Find Report of Theft Unfounded

The Santa Ana police department thought a "real job" had been discovered when at midnight was reported that two extra lights were burning and a safe door was open with papers strewn about, at the Davis Grocery, 304 West Fourth street. Upon investigation it was learned that every detail of the report was correct, but no evidence of force was found and there were no traces of anyone having entered the store.

The police have decided that whoever looked up for the night had been in too great a hurry.

Everett O'Dowd, 30, of Huntington Beach, today was granted an insanity trial before a jury, when he appeared before Superior Judge P. C. Drumm and filed a request for such a test, in answer to a statutory charge.

The charge accuses him of an attack upon a 15-year-old girl at Huntington Beach.

Judge Drumm set aside two days, April 2 and 3, for the insanity trial. O'Dowd was represented in court today by Attorney Morris A. Cain.

GIRL CASE MAN TO ALLEGE INSANITY

A foreclosure suit, involving Anaheim property, was on file today in the superior court here, Allie Eckert, as plaintiff, seeking judgment on a $1500 note against the Anaheim Land syndicate and a group of defendants who were included in the action, because of supposed claims to the property. The land syndicate is now defunct, it is said.

Attorney Max Ranaport, Los Angeles, represents the plaintiff. Among the defendants are Bismarck von Wedelstaedt, Eleanor Tustin von Wedelstaedt, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Benchley, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Heffern, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bell, F. E. Jones, E. W. Holcomb, J. K. Nordstrom, Herman Stern and the Heffern Oil company.

Fumigator Denies License Charges

Charged with conducting a fumigating business without a license from the county, V. J. Frye today was awaiting trial before Justice J. B. Cox, February 26 at 3 p. m. Frye was arraigned late yesterday and pleaded not guilty to the charge, which was filed by Charles F. Collins of the county horticultural commissioner's office.

ONLY SCORE OF 76 SPEEDERS APPEAR HERE

Approximately a score of speeders had appeared this afternoon before Justice J. B. Cox at the customary session of traffic court. Scores more who had been cited before the court had not yet appeared.

Among those sentenced to five days each in the county jail for driving at a rate of more than forty-five miles an hour were Earl Rohr, A. F. Lawrence, P. H. Farone, J. L. Phillips, Joe Harris, Ross Castendyke, G. R. Shepherd, S. Maldman and H. M. Langden.

Langden, who pleaded not guilty a week ago, was given a trial today and found guilty. He was defended by Attorney Joseph C. Spiess Jr., attorney for the Club of Southern California. Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wettlin conducted the prosecution.

Woman Is Fined
All of the sentenced speeders are residents of Los Angeles county.

Seven motorists charged with driving at a rate less than forty-five miles per hour paid fines of $25 each. They were Walter Blum, Melvin Buck, Mrs. A. A. Williams, James N. Cox, L. J. Gibbons, Miss L. L. Buchanan and Dr. E. Saphro, woman member of the Los Angeles board of health.

Dr. Saphro was fined after she admitted that when she was arrested she was not on professional business.

Representatives of the automobile club appeared for four others. M. C. Boyd, George A. Bray, J. Wood and Fred Moore. Bray, Wood and Moore were charged with a rate of speed above forty-five miles per hour and were, accordingly ordered to appear in person.

76 Arrested
Meantime Orange county jailers were making beds for most of the seventy-six speeders who were scheduled to appear before Justice Cox. A majority of the number were charged with driving at a rate of more than forty-five miles an hour, which meant jail terms of five days each for those found guilty.

"Guess we'll have to hang them out on the roof," commented Jailor O. Moncrief, chief custodian of the jail, "I don't see how we're going to jam them all inside of this jail house."

The unusual number of speeders represented the first week-end patrol of Irvine boulevard, well known speedway, by Motorcycle Officers H. S. Warner and Louis Heffner, who have just taken over that territory.

Comparatively Few Appear
Whether all who were given "tickets" would appear in court was regarded as a doubtful question, in view of an asserted tendency among arrested motorists recently to shrink from the court scene.

A comparatively small proportion of those ordered to appear have obeyed the summons, it was declared. The ire of traffic officers has been growing, accordingly, and suggestions have been made that attention may be given those who fail to come into court "without handcuffs."

REALTOR ARRAIGNED HERE AS VIOLATOR

M. O. Hensley, Anaheim real estate man, today was arraigned before Justice J. B. Cox here on a charge of acting as real estate broker without a license. His preliminary examination was set for March 12, at 2 p. m., and in default of $500 bail, Hensley was committed to the county jail.

Attorney Leo A. Evans, Anaheim, has been retained to defend Hensley, who is accused for the second time in connection with the sale of C. S. Seymour's property near Anaheim, some months ago.

Hensley was released the first time when it was shown that he had not received a commission for negotiating the sale. The authorities claim, however, to have obtained information that he merely waited until after the first charge was dropped before collecting his commission.

England Is Flooded With Berlin Goods

LONDON, Feb. 19.—There is to-day a new twist to the familiar expression "Made in Germany."

Under the English system of free trade, great quantities of cheap German manufactured products are dumped on the English market. To the casual purchaser during the rush of holiday shopping the words "Designed in England" met the eye. In small print below, almost unreadable was the regulation "Made in Germany" mark.

Hog Kills Horse in Fight in Strawstack

PETERSBURG, Ind., Feb. 19.—A deadly conflict was staged between a 500-pound Poland China hog belonging to Joe Barker, a farmer living three miles west of Petersburg, and a 1200-pound horse. Both animals had taken refuge under a strawstack, supported by rails, when the fight took place. The hog after killing the horse was eating it, and had to be driven away. The horse was valued at $125. Rather an expensive meal for a $50 hog.

DEATH REMAINS MYSTERY

MOULTON, Iowa, Feb. 20.—The death of John Corder, whose body was found in a houseboat near Kirksville, Mo., last week, is still a mystery.

Perfume-Soaked Sugar Loaves Are Girls' Latest Fad

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Feb. 14.—The report that school girls here have adopted the French habit of eating loaf sugar that has been soaked in perfume is being investigated.

Because of the fact that perfume contains a large percentage of alcohol, the authorities fear the spread of the habit. Some of the girls have said that to eat perfumed sugar sweetens their breath and brightens their eyes.

Silk Stockings, Low Necks of Women Blamed for Grip

PARIS, Feb. 19.—Reports for last week show that out of 310 cases of grip admitted to Paris hospitals 190 were women. The proportion during the present epidemic, the doctors say, is about normal.

Silk stockings, open-work shoes, sleeveless frocks and low necks are held accountable.

The death rate in the Paris area is about 200 a week above normal since the year began and the increase is attributed largely to the grip epidemic.

ANTI-SPEEDING INSTRUCTION IN SCHOOL

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 20.—Over on the Kansas side, across from this city, "bad boys" who drive their motor cars recklessly to the hazard of pedestrians, are taught to know and do better.

Establishment of a night traffic school, where violators of traffic ordinances are taught the rules of riding, driving and guiding their cars through the streets of the city, has proven an effective means of curbing reckless driving, authorities say.

Joseph Lynch, assistant city attorney, is teacher. He becomes stern with the "boys" when they do not do their "home work" correctly.

Just Like School

Minor violators, whose offenses are not too serious, are given continuances in their cases and sentenced to go to school on promise that they attend classes regularly and mind the teacher.

The night school class is held one night each week with a one hour session. Each student is given the traffic regulations to study and must commit to memory the most essential sections of them.

For failure to learn his lesson in detail, the "student" is punished by being given the alternative either of paying of heavy fine or making a promise to continue faithful study until he has learned the particular sections he is given to memorize so he can recite them off by heart.

Good boys, who learn their lessons promptly and are good in deportment, are graded by stiff "exams" and given indefinite continuances of their cases.

Object Lesson

One of the speeders' school "students" recently was given a taste of the trials and troubles of a police officer.

"Teacher" Lynch gave him as part of his "home work" an assignment to take the place of a traffic officer for a half hour.

The "student" reluctantly took the officer's whistle and stepped into the center of the street to be "punished."

A little awkward and nervous at first, he finally directed traffic like a veteran, and when his "time was up," teacher was satisfied he was sufficiently punished and dismissed him from school.

Robert A. Cushman of Hollywood, was placed in charge of publicity; Russell C. Lockhart of Los Angeles in charge of printing, and Dan Nichols of Pomona was placed at the head of the senior ball. R. Everett Braley of Pasadena is on the men's banquet committee and Justin M. Kennedy and Samuel Osborne of Los Angeles are on the finance committee.

Boulder Dam Is Handed Support At Yorba Linda

Asserting that the efforts of Senator Hiram Johnson and Representative Phil Swing deserve the support of agricultural interests in all sections of Southern California, the Yorba Linda farm center today was on record endorsing the Boulder dam project sponsored by Swing and Johnson.

At a meeting held last night the farm center voted to send a telegram to President Coolidge, urging the nation's chief executive to use every reasonable and honorable effort to bring about passage of this legislation.

The farm center decided to defer action upon the appointment of a successor to George Kellogg, recently elected president. Kellogg resigned, declaring his business interests were such that he could not devote the necessary time to this work.

W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, awarded prizes to Ivy Birch, William Burchett and Ivan Jacobs, for first, second and third places in the farm center poultry club competition.

FAMOUS SCOUT DEFENDED BY DAUGHTER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 20.—The once wild west has arisen to defend the character of the "uncrowned king of all Rocky mountain scouts, guides, trappers, Indian fighters, trappers and plainsmen from the '30s to the '70s," as recorded on the rough-hewn granite monument marking the resting place of "Jim" Bridger, Pathfinder of the plains.

On the monument in Washington park cemetery here, a bas relief of the famous old trail blazer looks out from the stone toward the west, which he helped win and develop into the great inland empire.

The inscription was dictated by Maj. Gen. Granville M. Dodge, who, with Bridger's help, laid out the course of the first transcontinental railroad.

The public recently has been given another picture of the character of Bridger, as interpreted by Tully Marshall in the film version of Emerson Hough's "Covered Wagon." This depicts Bridger as shabby, uncouth, maudlin, constantly intoxicated and living with two squaws simultaneously. Between drinks, he shot tin cans off heads of other men.

Picture Tied Up

As a result of this version Mrs. Virginia Bridger Hahn, only surviving daughter of the plainsman, has brought suit against producers of the picture for $100,000, charging libel of her father, and has by court injunction tied up showing of the picture in some states.

General Dodge, who had Bridger as a guide and constant companion in laying out the route of the Union Pacific writes:

"Bridger was a very companionable man. He was always hospitable and generous, trusted and respected. I have heard two things said of him by the best plainsmen of his time—that he did not know what fear was and he never once lost his bearings on the plains or in the mountains. He was complete master of the plains and of Woodcraft."

Bridger, according to all historical accounts, was married three times and lived with each of his wives in ordinary domestic relations at Ft. Bridger. The last wife accompanied him back to Missouri and died on the farm near Dallas where he spent his final days. Two of his wives were Indians. Several children, born of each marriage, were educated in St. Louis schools, and, according to all indications, Bridger was solicitous that they should have every advantage of training. He died in 1891.

INDIANS WILL REVIVE OLD FESTIVAL

ROSEBURG, Ore., Feb. 20.—Old days in Oregon, the days before the "fifties," will be recalled when Southern Oregon Indian tribes gather here June 12 to June 14 for their big pow-wow.

The Indians have set aside three days when festivities similar to those held at Cape Ilahee, fifty miles east of here, before the advent of the white man, will be repeated. A primitive Indian village will be erected by these people, many of whom are worth more money today from the sale of land than their forefathers ever dreamed existed, and during the period of the "convention" the warriors and their squaws will make their homes in tepees. A big central shed is to be erected to shelter the braves as they sit around in the councils.

Races will be held, for which many cow ponies have been in training since spring began to hover over the valleys; the old tribal dances, games and sports will be revived, and many of the old customs brought from the districts of the various tribes, where they have been handed down for centuries, will be in force for the three days. For a time at least civilized customs will be in the discard, except for those fundamental principles which the Indian has learned too well to be tossed away in a hurry.

The celebration is expected to attract many curious onlookers, a prospect which is not at all displeasing to the younger Indians, who expect much white warfare for their efforts in the race and on the gaming field. Roseburg business men are planning to co-operate with the Indians in making the festival a success, both business and social.

SAYS COLLEGES HOLD 'RUSHING RABBLES'

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—On the heels of the charge that American college girls are "hard-drinking, cigarette-puffing, licentious Amazons," comes the assertion that college student bodies are "rushing rabbles."

The characterization of the girl students was made by Dr. Charles J. Smith, president of Roanoke college, Virginia, before the National Lutheran Education conference in the Hotel Astor.

The general indictment against students was made in the same hotel before the Association of American colleges, represented chiefly by university and college presidents, by Dr. Marion L. Burton, president of the University of Michigan.

An American home for making the student a being "concerned almost entirely with external and material things."

Individualism Declared Gone

A materialistic era has drowned out individualism. Dr. Burton declared, and largely snuffed out the inner life of the present generation. The most abysmal failure in the last two decades in American education, he said, was its failure to establish intellectual power with relation to character.

College students, he asserted, because of a social revolution have been made afraid of being different, with a belittled sense of integrity and slight courage of conviction.

"What has the college become?" asked Dr. Burton. "It has become a thing of rushing rabbles, jazz orchestras, pep meetings, frolics, hops and schedules fitted to make the common show at the movies. The rushing rabble is inevitably driven away from the spirit of higher learning and our object is lost. In every home the powerful man in business is the hero of the day."

Inner Life Snuffed Out

"What we have done is snuffed out our inner life. Democracy is partly responsible. Youth has got the impression it must go with the crowd; it must be popular. It has become terribly afraid of being different. It has been tremendously externalized and objectified. The successful man of today puts things across—he sells himself or something else!"

"This disease has made the best thinking students come to feel this talk about an inner reality isn't significant. I do not mean to preach an excessive doctrine of individualism. But I do mean that our students must have inner judgment if they are to accept the obligations of the future. It is possible for a man to be a gentleman and violate every rule of etiquette. Students must have a sense of integrity and the courage of their convictions."

Menace to Standing

"When in American civilization the home is a place in which art, music and culture are stressed as much as material gain and worldly success, when it actually comes to pass that the family which raises a poet, scientist or a teacher will be as proud as if he were a financial genius, then you can put religion as a vital factor in American colleges."

A serious menace to academic standards has been brought since the war by the great increase in numbers in all universities and colleges throughout the country, said Dr. Frank Aydelotte, president of Swarthmore college, in an address. He said the average quality of student material is lower, while the resources of it in the institutions have been strained to the utmost.

"In many colleges the only solution for large classes was to dilute the quality of instruction by employing less experienced and lower paid instructors," Dr. Aydelotte said. "The result is a great danger that the level of the college and university instruction should be lowered."

WOMAN 'DRUMMER' GETS $1500 MONTH

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Miss "Pat" McCoy, $1,500 a month plumbers' supply salesman, is here for "blood." No less. Out for the "blood" of all men competitors in her line.

Blue eyes, Irish smile, silver tongue and all, Miss McCoy flew into Chicago from the South in her De Havilland airplane to take over the Chicago territory for two Omaha concerns.

She is the star salesman of both companies and says she is the highest paid woman "drummer" in the country.

With her Miss McCoy brought a message to Chicago women:

"Get into the sales line and make money. The country is wide open waiting for saleswomen," said Miss McCoy. "This going to school and studying to be a $25 a week stenographer is the 'bunk.' There's nothing in it."

"Girls should study the same subjects as men do—study them, learn them and then beat the men at their own game. Although I was a graduate of a school of engineering, I didn't know a thing about the plumbing supply business when I started," Miss McCoy said. "Now, in nine cases out of ten I can take an order away from a man if I can give the same price and quality."

OPERETTA WINS APPROVAL AT ORANGE H. S.

ORANGE, Feb. 20.—The auditorium of the Orange Union High school last night was filled with a delighted audience who greatly enjoyed the operetta "Pepita," given by the high school glee club and directed by Mr. Percy Richards.

The first scene opens outside a Mexican village inn kept by Pedro, a crafty, designing old man and a confirmed pessimist, who owing to poor business, due to the unsettled state of the country, is unable to pay the rent to his landlord, Carlos, a young man of wealth and position, but outwaded by the government, because of his suspected complicity with Romero, an ex-smuggler, who, from his cave in the mountains, directs the passage of arms and ammunition through the Federal lines to the revolutionary forces.

Felipa, daughter of Pedro, a charming girl of bright and sunny disposition, refuses to be a party to her father's scheme to save paying rent by marrying her to Carlos, knowing, as she does, that the latter is smitten with the charms of Pepita, a country girl who has fled to the village to escape the raids of the soldiers, and that his interest is reciprocated, though the two have never met.

When matters are at their worst, Henry Hepworth, an American millionaire, touring the country with his sister Jane, and his valet, Wilson, arrives at the inn, takes a whole floor for his party, and is at once attracted by Felipa. Wilson presumes to aspire to Jane, or rather to her money, but receives small encouragement, as appears.

Carlos and Pedro concoct a scheme to abduct Jane and convey her to Romero to hold for ransom, which they carry out successfully. The alarm is given, and the act closes with preparations for the pursuit and rescue.

Scene one of act two opens in a mountain pass near Romero's cave early on the following morning. Romero has fallen in love with his prisoner, and his picturesque garb and life appeals to Jane's love of the romantic. Hepworth arrives to negotiate for the ransom, accompanied by Wilson, guided by Carlos and followed shortly by Pepita, whose suspicions are aroused by her lover's connection with the abduction. Hepworth is dumfounded by Romero's announcement that he will accept no ransom but Jane's hand in marriage, to which, however, he readily agrees, with the approval of the lady herself. The proposal that all return to the inn for lunch is met by Romero with the news that there is a price on his head offered by the government because of his revolutionary activities, whereupon Hepworth tells them that dispatches have arrived announcing the complete defeat of the federal forces by the insurgents, who are now in full control of the government. The only obstacle now to Romero's return is the danger of Pedro's using his knowledge of the smuggler's past to the latter's disadvantage. Hepworth then buys Pedro's silence, and leaves Wilson behind as a hostage.

Scene two, is morning in the village, revealing Felipa anxious over Hepworth's fate, and Pedro mourning over the unpaid board bill, till the party arrives safely. Carlos succeeds in explaining matters to Pepita's satisfaction, and all the love affairs are arranged, and the scene closes with the whole party starting to celebrate the fiesta of the evening.

Altogether, the operetta was a great success, and the different parts were all taken very well. The part of Pedro was taken by Carl Pryor, and the daughter Felipa was Marjorie Thomson.

Clarence Higgins played the part of the Dashing Carlos, Charlene Skinner acted Pepita, and Leonard Field was Romero the smuggler. The American party, consisting of Henry Hepworth, Jane Hepworth, and Wilson the valet, were acted by Alvin Rohrs, Elizabeth Todd, and Howard Thompson respectively.

This splendid cast was supported by a large chorus of boys and girls, who helped make the operetta the splendid success it was.

An Outstanding Style Produced Each Season

Every season Stetson "comes through" with one distinctive shape that is found in no other Stetson line—it is their feature hat and there is no other like it.

The Stetson Feature Hat for this Spring has just arrived at the Vandermast store, 110 East 4th St., and it is a study all by itself in the gentle art of fine hat making. The felt material is made from the fur bearing rabbits in the coldest sections of Siberia, the only place where delicate fur of this quality can be obtained.

The linings are of heavy Skinner's Satin; the colors are Maple, Pearl Grey and Belgian Back.

But more than any other feature to be noted is the individual Stetson shape. It is new and it puts a new note into the song of Style.

This Stetson Feature sells for $10 at Vandermast's.

The Growth of Stetson

It is interesting to know that the increase alone last year in Stetson hat production was more than the entire factory production of any other hat maker in the United States! Just the INCREASE!

Stetson Says: "Featherweight"

The makers of Stetson Hats have "followed through" on the popularity of the crusher hat by creating the "Featherweight," a still lighter and finer texture built along similar lines, but distinctively Stetson in shape, color and detail of making. They come in Pearl Grey, Dark Grey, Tan and Wood Brown.

Five special Stetson shapes in both the new bound edge and welt edge, at $7.50.

An Invitation To the Ladies!

A lady visiting our plant during the past week gave us an idea which has opened up another avenue of service to us.

In showing our visitor around the plant, we stressed the fact that we wash every thing sent to this good laundry with water which is as soft as rain water because we reduce every drop we use to "zero" softness.

After examining a sample of this water, this lady said, "My, wouldn't that be fine for shampooing one's hair?"

We got the big idea right there and just as we told this lady, we tell every Santa Ana woman, "You are more than welcome to come and get all the soft Santa Ana Laundry you want for shampooing."

Come on in, ladies, "the water's fine."

BetrothalsWeddings*Receptions*Wedding Anniversary*Celebrates Years*Of Happiness

Sharing the joys and sorrows of fifty-seven wonderful years is an experience that cannot come to many but it has been the lot of two estimable Santa Anans, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stoneback of 409
Richland avenue to have that experience and Sunday, February 17 the anniversary of their marriage in 1867 was celebrated by a homecoming of their children and grandchildren.

Originally from the Old Dominion, Mr. and Mrs. Stoneback left Virginia in 1873 and pioneered in Clay county, Kansas, where they made their home until California beckoned last year and they decided that Santa Ana offered them the pleasant place in which to spend the late afternoon of life.
In May of 1923 they took possession of their comfortable new home on Richland avenue.

There the members of their family gathered Sunday with the exception of one daughter and her family, Mrs. David Libby who resides in Clay county, Kansas and could not be present. Those who were here to enjoy the occasion included the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. J.
H. Stoneback, Mr. and Mrs. W. G.
Stoneback, Mr. and Mrs. H. W.
Stoneback, Mr. and Mrs. A. A.
Hunt and family, Mr. and Mrs.
Harvey Stoneback and family and
Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hunt.

The table was adorned with flowers in harmony with a pink and green color scheme and an elaborate turkey dinner was served. The final course brought a great wedding cake which also was a birthday cake and bore four glowing candles in honor of the birthday of a member of the fourth generation of the family, Master Ray Gene Stoneback.

Of the wedding honorees, Mrs.
Stoneback, the bride, is fifty-seven years old, is now seventy-seven years old, having married when a girl of twenty. Mr. Stone-back is eighty-one. He is a Civil war veteran having served with the 124th Pennsylvania Infantry and was in action at the battles of Antietam, Fredericksburg and Gettysburg.

Knights of Columbus

Although not largely attended, the box social given last evening by Santa Ana Council, Knights of Columbus was a most pleasant affair and netted the Knights a nice little sum to go towards purchasing a covering for their fine hardwood floor.

Five hundred was the diversion for the evening, the prizes going to Mrs. Jules W. Markel and George W. Young. The prize for the best box went to Mrs. A. L.
Merle, judges being G. W. Young,
George Carroll and George Ravenkamp.

George Young auctioned the pretty boxes, which brought goodly sums, and the committee in charge served hot chocolate to eat with the delectable lunches. Dancing with Miss Adeline Cochems at the piano concluded the evening's enjoyment.

News Notes ofInterest To*Women*Merry Gift Hunt Is*Planned to Honor*Bride-elect

Miss Catherine Morris who in March will wed Arthur Heard, is being feted delightfully by her friends in honor of the approaching happy event and quite recently was the incentive for a miscelaneous shower given by Miss Minnie Phillips at her home on West Sixth street.

Quantities of sweet peas adorned the pleasant home and established the delicate color scheme of rose which distinguished the affair. The guests were asked to embroider many different articles designed for the honoree's hope-chest, and which included hot dish holders, tea towels and luncheon cloths.

Entertaining contests followed and each one busied herself with compiling life histories of Miss Morris and her fiancée, illustrating them cleverly with pictures which the hostess had in readiness.

The completed booklets were presented to Miss Morris.

Late in the evening the honor guest was presented with a little card of instructions and in following them was led on a winding trail to all corners of the house finally reaching the kitchen, where, secreted under the stove she discovered a box filled to overflowing with lovely bits of china, cut glass, hand-made gifts in linen and all the pretty articles which a bride loves to display in her new home.

At the refreshment hour, Miss Phillips assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. D. Phillips, served a gelatin salad, fruit tapicaca with cookies and hot chocolate.

The guests included in addition to Miss Morris the honoree, the Misses Eleanor Widney, Eileen Young, Olga Perinich, Frances Donan, Lydia Oest, Mesdames Eva
Woods, Olive Fipps, E. H. Layton,
J. W. Allen and J. D. Phillips.

Elks EntertainAt Dancing

A pleasant hospitality prevailed in the social rooms of the Elks club last night when members of Santa Ana Lodge No. 794 B. P. O.
E. were hosts at a dancing party.

The handsome new rooms for the convenience of the feminine members of the families of the local Elks, were thrown wide and offered an attractive setting for the affair. An excellent program of dance music, lively and gay as befits Elk activities, was furnished by the Chapman orchestra. Food punch was on flow all evening and in every respect the party was an enjoyable one and the forerunner of many to come if the hopes of the appreciative guests are to be realized.

CITY'S SYMPHONYPLANS REHEARSAL

The Santa Ana Symphony Orchestra will hold a rehearsal at 8 o'clock tonight at Chandler Music Store.

"Any musician, man or woman, is welcome to this organization," said Director D. C. Clanton. "In fact, there are in the orchestra several girls who have proved themselves to be entirely capable. We expect more students tonight. The orchestra gives these young musicians an opportunity to perform the works of the great masters and gain all the experience necessary to be a finished musician."

"We need the co-operation of the musicians of the entire city, young or old, teachers and students, and it is only with such co-operation that we can assure this progressive city with an organization of merit."

"Our neighbor towns are asking me if we have enough talent to build up such an organization. The same question was asked me when I began to organize the city band, and today we can say that we have a band which is not inferior to any in Southern California and which may be the leading one in a short time."

"We can obtain the same results with the symphony orchestra and let the world know that Santa Ana is a real musical center."

Double L Girls GreetMany Friends at*Evening Party

Added to the usual members of the Double L club were several guests who last night enjoyed the hospitality of Miss Emma Douglass and Mrs. Leo Schmiedberg at a pleasant affair at the Douglass home, 502 South Parton street.

Sweet peas were used in colorful decoration of the home and tables were arranged for 500 at which Mrs. Andrew Lykke proved most skillful and was awarded the head prize. Consolation went to Miss Fred Merker, scoring low.

Miss Douglass and Mrs. Schmiedberg were assisted in greeting and entertaining their guests by their mothers, Mrs. T. J. Douglass and Mrs. Zoe Williams.

At the refreshment hour, the tables were centered with dainty nut cups in pink and blue and a delectable salad served with sandwiches cut in the shapes of the four suits of cards.

Club members present in addition to the hostesses, were the Misses Nora Lykke, Ruth Robertson, Vergelle Breckenridge, Marguerite Galbraith, Mesdames H. P.
Vanderwalker, Carl Edgar and J.
H. Daniger while guests included
Mesdames Douglass, Williams,
Wollast, Wallace, Fred G. Merker,
L. A. Dickey, A. M. Kramer, Alfred
Cattland, A. H. Shippey, Perry W.

Interesting SpeakerAt Press Club

Miss Beulah May of Maybury street, a local member of the Woman's Press club of Southern California, was in Los Angeles yesterday where with her guest, Eliza Hotelling Tanager, she attended the regular session of the writers held at the Ebell club.

"Material for the Writer" was the theme of a pithy talk by Esther Birdsall Darling who held the fascinated attention of her audience as she related stories of her famous dog, "Baldy of Nome."

250 of his fellows gained an enviable reputation during the World War and was decorated with the Croix de Guerre. The dogs were given a task beyond human endurance, of carrying thousands of pounds of ammunition across a shell-swept battle field. Mrs. Darling's account of the feat thrilled every one present. Interesting also were her descriptions of her home 200 miles from the Arctic circle and an equal distance from Siberia.

Other Santa Ana members of the press club are Mrs. B. D. Petersen and Miss Doris Hutchins.

Birthday Surprise

Mrs. Susan Fink and Miss Andrey Wright were surprised by thirty-four of their neighbors who last night gathered at the home of Mrs.
Fink, 1333 Grand avenue and staged a joint birthday party on the two honorees.

A happy evening of music, conversation and games followed and at a late hour appetizing refreshments were enjoyed.

Mrs. Pearl Morse and a short and interesting business session was conducted by the president, Miss May Beamer. Plans were made to hold the meeting next month with Mrs. Anna Patton at Orange. Interest in the "Pearlie" contest is by Miss Lettie Ritzer.

On next Sunday evening Miss Daniels will speak at the evening services at the church on her work in Valparaiso, using interesting slides for illustration. The services will be under the auspices of the Women's Missionary society.

Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock members of the Friendly Circle class of the First M. E. church ning. Each one attending is asked pared dish to the menu which all

WOULD STATION FRUIT PLANTS AT MARKETS

Carlyle Thorpe, general manager of the California Walnut Growers' association and one of the best posted authorities in the West on marketing conditions, made some startling suggestions to several hundred ranchers and citrus executives assembled for the annual citrus institute at San Bernardino, according to H. E. Wahlberg, orange county farm advisor, here today.

"Thorpe did not hesitate to advocate radical measures," said Wahlberg, "and one of his most startling suggestions was made in connection with better prices for California products."

"This expert presented figures showing that the normal increase in population in the United States amounted to 1.4 per cent annually, while the production of citrus fruits is increasing at the rate of 10 per cent each year."

Need Selling Campaign.
"This unbalanced condition means that there will be a greater responsibility on the part of the marketing organizations to carry on still greater selling campaigns. He added that the working people, embracing the middle class, were the largest consumers of citrus commodities."

"Then, turning to ways and means for meeting the issues, Thorpe declared that, in his opinion, it would be better for citrus exchanges or local associations to provide ample storage facilities in the Eastern markets for their products, in order to meet the fluctuating market demands, rather than putting such large investments in local packing houses."

"Instances were cited where considerable expenditures had been made at the point of production, in the way of building equipment, which might have been put to far better use if the same money were expended for storage space in eastern market centers."

Fluctuations Shown.
"Such storage would provide the means to avoid the fluctuations the means to avoid the fluctuations the means to avoid the fluctuations of lemons, particularly, in Eastern consuming centers. If prices could be maintained at an average level instead of the fluctuations from $12 lemons to $2 lemons, both of which extremes injure the industry, a more substantial market would probably be encouraged."

"All speakers were emphatic in their suggestions that growers should take a keener interest in marketing problems. It has been the tendency, according to the speakers, for the individual grower to leave everything to the directors, managers and the association. In other words, let George do it."

"If closer attention is given by the grower to his association and to the business of marketing, there is no doubt but what the confidence of the marketing agencies can be greatly strengthened."

LOCAL QUARTETTE ON KFAW PROGRAM

KFAW, The Register radio-phone, will offer its radio audience a musical treat tomorrow night, from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock, when a vocal and instrumental program of the highest class will be presented by Mrs. H. B. Van Dien, soprano; Lloyd Roach, baritone; Percy Bowne, tenor, and Miss Leonora Tompkins, pianiste.

Mrs. Van Dien, Miss Tompkins and Mr. Bowne are well known in the local musical world and their talents are always in great demand. Roach is a Chicago visitor who has made several appearances during his stay in Santa Ana. He possesses a tenor voice of fine quality.

Misses Bay City Jail Date Because He Was Held Here

Oscar F. Sargent of Los Angeles tried to explain to the township justice court No. 2 in San Diego why he was several days late in reporting to headquarters after he was arrested a fortnight ago by a speed "cop" for doing 52 per on his way north.

"You see, it was this way, your honor," he stammered. "After your officer arrested me I continued on my way to Los Angeles but was again arrested in Santa Ana where the judge gave me five days in jail. I have just completed the sentence and hurried down to report here."

"Fifty dollars and two days in the county jail," was the kind-hearted response of the San Diego justice.

Sargent says twice a week in jail is sufficient training for any speeder.

Delay Decision On Equipment at Jail

Bids submitted for the contract of supplying equipment and cell work in the new county jail were still under advisement today with the board of supervisors. Considering the bids late yesterday the supervisors deferred action for another week, then continuing the matter to next Tuesday.

20 MILLION IS COUNTY ACRES DIVERSIFIED CROP TOTAL

Section Has Much to Offer Prospective Rancher Who Is Willing to Work

EFFORT IS REWARDED

$8,650,486 Realized From 4,325,243 Boxes of Valencia Oranges

Orange county, according to A. A. Brock, county horticultural commissioner, has more to offer the prospective rancher than any other county in the Southland, when it comes to a consideration of diversified crops.

"Any progressive rancher who is willing to work can find an ample field for his labors here," said Brock today, discussing production in Orange county.

"Whether he goes in for stock, poultry or out-and-out products of the soil, the rancher will find his efforts well rewarded in this favored section of the state."

In support of his contention, Brock pointed to production records for 1923. Figures compiled by Brock show that a golden harvest is available for all who bring to their tasks experience and a willingness to work.

$20,000,000 Realized
"Although the record is not complete," Brock said, "it is possible to show here $20,000,000 or more has been realized in different sections of the county on about fifty-acre crops. This does not take into consideration the tremendous gains many land owners have reaped from oil and its by-products."

"For example, a survey shows that we have more than 37,000 acres producing valencias, while more than 3,000 acres will soon come into bearing. Figuring on a production of 4,325,243 boxes we find that this item alone brought $8,650,486, while 2,966 acres in navels brought a revenue of $486,427. "From nearly 10,000 bearing acres, lemons, producing 697,884 boxes, brought in $2,791,336, while walnuts produced 17,740,209 pounds, or $3,540,841, from 17,150 acres. One million, seven hundred and eighty-four thousand dollars was the golden harvest from beans, the acreage being 21,139."

"Then we have sugar beets, vegetables, peppers, apples, apricots, persimmons, grain, etc., with cash values ranging from $10,000 to $1,000,000. This county has nearly 4,000 acres in vegetables and approximately 5,000 acres in sugar beets."

"In addition, there are scores of

Observe Nat'l Garden Week Here in April

The second annual observance of National Garden week will be held April 20 to 26, inclusive.

In 1923 the observance was endorsed by President Harding and the members of his cabinet. It was proclaimed, or publicly endorsed, by the governors of twenty states.

Twenty-four states actively co-operated through one or more of their state departments.

It was endorsed by the Federation of Women's clubs, with 2,000,000 members, and the Garden Club of America, with sixty-five clubs.

It had the endorsement of nurserymen, lecturers, boards of trade, chambers of commerce, horticultural societies and highway commissioners, the American Legion, Boy Scouts and forestry conservation officials.

Thirteen thousand women's clubs will aid the campaign this year.

Trained Students In Demand, State School Indicates

The division of pomology of the University of California is constantly receiving requests from fruit growers in Southern California for trained students, according to A. M. Stanley, manager of the Orange county farm bureau.

"Such requests are given careful consideration," Stanley said, "and the proper students are selected for each call. Work done by these students includes harvesting, packing, drying, pear-blight control and pruning."

"During the past pruning season, about twenty-five students were working in fruit orchards. In all cases, fruit growers have been well satisfied and have made favorable comments upon the work done by the students. They find it pays to get trained men."

Pint Jar Method Used By Schools

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 20.—The public health nurse of Ramsey county, Minnesota, has a novel plan for serving hot lunches in the rural schools of her county which she calls "The Pint Jar Method Hot Lunch." Each child brings from home some particular kind of food in a tightly closed Mason pint jar. Upon reaching school the jar is set on a rack in a clothes boiler. This boiler is partly filled with water and placed on a two-burner oil stove. At the morning recess the stove is lighted and by noon the contents of the jars are hot. Then monitors distribute the jars and the children supplement the warm dish with the cold food in their lunch baskets.

PREDICTS RAIN SOON TO SAVE BEAN CROP

Auditor-Grower Holds Lack of Snow In Mountains As Chief Danger

Despite the fact that lack of rain has caused widespread uneasiness in Northern California and is retarding grain growth in Southern California, W. C. Jerome, county auditor and a leading bean grower, declared here today that he is confident this section of the state will receive sufficient precipitation within the next few weeks to provide ample moisture for an immense bean crop.

"Of course, there is no guarantee of the fact that we need rain," Jerome said, "but I confess it is lack of snow in the mountains, rather than lack of rainfall in the valleys, that gives me concern. I have lived here too long to be persuaded that our winter rains are over."

"Beans, one of the county's most substantial crops, still have a fair fighting chance, in spite of the fact that our seasonal rainfall is not up to the usual standard. This cannot be said for grain."

According to Jerome and other well-posted growers, a big part of this county's bean land can be irrigated if this becomes necessary, but the county auditor was confident the next few weeks will bring rains that will solve this problem.

"We are far better off than Northern California," Jerome declared, "and, for my part, I am satisfied the rain gods will favor us as usual. Heavy rainfall in Oregon and Mexico has proved a detriment, rather than an aid to ranchers. From time to time it rains all around us, and I am quite sure it will rain here."

Jerome said lack of snow in the mountains is giving the power companies and many ranchers grave concern. Government observers have advised water users to practice the strictest economy.

Many to Attend Military Camps

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—Two thousand young men will be trained in the Citizens' Military training camps in the Ninth Corps area during the summer of 1924 under present plans of the war department. It is announced by the commanding officer at the Presidio. The number is 500 less than in 1923, when many applicants were unable to attend these camps because of lack of space.

Fertilization Is Bees' Most Valuable Work

Some day it will be recognized that bees are more important to the fruit industry of California, as fertilization insurance, than they are to the state generally as producers of honey for food, according to advices received by farm bureau executives from G. H. Vansell, entomologist at the University farm at Davis.

"If the wholesale starvation of honey bees now threatened is allowed to proceed," Vansell declared, "the fruit industry in California will suffer severely."

"For years the majority of beekeepers have lost heavily. This year's honey crop is short. Rather than pay the prevailing high prices for sugar to keep their bees alive, many beekeepers are allowing their swarms to perish."

"Bees for pollination purposes next spring will be unavailable to many fruit growers unless something is done to save the bees. Bees are absolutely indispensable for the profitable set of many fruit crops."

Reveals Baking, Milling Values Of Wheat Grades

The milling and baking qualities of seventy-five varieties of wheat have been determined in experiments by the United States department of agriculture, and the results have been published in department Bulletin 1183. "Milling and Baking Experiments with American Wheat Varieties" it was learned here today.

The varieties found to lead in milling and baking quality for the various classes are Marquis, Kota, and Ruby in the Hard Red Spring group; Kubanka in the Durum group; Kharkof, Turkey, and Kanred in the Hard Red Winter group; Red Rock and Fulcrum in the Soft Red Winter group, and Bobs, Hard Federation, Bunyib, and Eaart in the White Wheats.

Comparison of the qualities of the various classes of wheat shows Hard Red Spring to average highest in loaf volume; Durum highest in crude protein; Hard Red Winter highest in yield of flour, and Soft Red Winter second highest in yield of flour. The White Wheats did not excel in any factor but the best points were high color score and low ash content of flour.

A total of 3,507 samples of wheat of experimental and commercial origin were studied over the seven-year period 1915-21.

PRODUCTION OF RYE IN WEST INCREASES

The production of rye in the United States has increased rapidly within the last few years due chiefly to a heavy foreign demand, high-priced labor, and low yields of wheat, and the development of improved varieties of rye, including Rosen, Dakold, and several others.

The hardiness, vigor, earliness, and low production costs of winter rye have permitted it to compete successfully with spring wheat. Recent low prices for rye, however, have made the crop less profitable than formerly. If rye is to maintain its importance in the future it must be fitted into its proper place in the farming system.

Suitable cultural methods and good varieties are equally essential. A continued foreign market for our surplus also is necessary. These problems are discussed in a new bulletin just issued by the United States department of agriculture, as Farmers' Bulletin 1358, "Growing Rye in the Western Half of the United States."

DAIRY PRODUCT PRICES JUMP DURING YEAR

Revenue Derived From Cal. Butter Higher Than In Other States, Claim

During 1923 average prices of dairy products throughout the country increased—butter 17 per cent, cheese 13 per cent, condensed milk 30 per cent, and market milk 17 per cent, according to W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor.

"While the average price received for California butter is higher than that of the country as a whole," said Cory, "this does not mean that on any particular day the price in California will be that much higher than elsewhere in the country."

"The difference, which is a favorable one for Southern California dairymen, is that California dairies can produce a larger portion of their butter during the months of high prices than can less favored places in the country."

"In June and July prices of butter ordinarily reach their lowest points, because then the entire country is producing."

"In the earlier and later months the production of the country falls off. It does in California, as well, but not so soon, or to such a great extent."

According to advices received by Cory consumption of dairy products in the United States is increasing faster than the population.

"It would appear," Cory said, "that the people of the United States are using more dairy products per capita than ever before. Part of this increase is due to the confidence of the public in the purity of dairy products."

Orange county, Cory declared, has some of the finest dairy ranches in the west and purebred stock is contributing very materially in the nationwide campaign for pure dairy products.

LEMON PRUNING METHODS WILL BE SHOWN

Anxious to perpetuate Orange county's reputation for producing the best lemons in the Southland, Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg released today a schedule of pruning demonstrations which will prove of unusual value to growers in this section of the state.

"We are aiming at quality production," said Wahlberg, "a thing that was brought out clearly when Yorba Linda won first prize for lemons at the San Bernardino citrus exposition. The best practical methods of pruning lemon trees will be demonstrated by citrus specialists of the agricultural extension service."

The schedule includes demonstrations at Anaheim, Villa Park, El Modena, Garden Grove, La Habra and Yorba Linda.

Wednesday, February 27 at 10 a. m., a demonstration will be held at the ranch of W. M. Panier, Ball road and East street, Anaheim; another demonstration will be held the same day at 2 p. m., at the ranch of A. M. Lorenzen, near Villa Park.

Thursday, demonstrations will be held at 10 a. m., at the home of M. E. White, El Modena, and at 2 p. m., in Garden Grove, the place to be announced later.

Friday, at 10 a. m., a demonstration is scheduled for the home of J. Chibberg, La Habra. At 2 p. m., in Yorba Linda, a demonstration will be held. Location will be announced later.

Care of Your Eyes

WHY NOT STYLES IN GLASSES?

IN THE SPRING, Nature clothes her trees with leaves of green. She covers the ground with a carpet to match. Then she puts white blossoms like polka-dots on her apple tree children, and pink polka-dots on her peach tree children. She breaks the monotony of the big green carpet with flashes of color—first tulips, then violets, then hundreds of others, all different.

Each style lasts for only a short time until in late summer, she begins to show preference for yellow and golden shades, the sun-flowers and the golden grain.

Then, just before she wraps about her that winter suit of brown with its trimmings of ermine snow, she bursts forth in a new show of beauty. She wears the variegated colors of Autumn.

Isn't the "same old thing" all the time for Mother Nature. She insists on the correct style at the proper time. Much of Nature's charm is in the harmony of her ever changing costumes.

And harmony is the keynote of the present "Style in Glasses" program. To have glasses that harmonize with the time, the place, the occasion and the other items of personal choice. To make the duty of wearing glasses a pleasure instead, and a matter of good taste as well as good judgment.

POULTRYMEN TOLD TO EXAMINE EGGS

"A good criterion of one's ability as a poultry raiser," a department of agriculture report says, "is the number of chickens raised to maturity in proportion to the eggs set. Success depends to a large extent on this one factor."

"The causes for enormous losses in eggs and dead embryos occurring annually in the country are many. A conservative estimate places the loss due to eggs that did not hatch in 1923 at over $8,000,000."

"Be sure that your breeders are in excellent health, have sanitary quarters, and that one male is mated to not over fifteen females. Other losses are due to the fact that many poor eggs are set. Test your eggs carefully, and take out all with thin and spotted shells or with cracked shells."

WAR ON PESTS EFFECTIVE AS CAMPAIGN IS JOINED BY RANCHERS

Continue Drive Here Aimed At Squirrels and Other Banes of Growers

MAINTAIN INSPECTION

Fight to Continue Until County Is Rid of Many Harmful Insects

As a result of a systematic fight launched here more than two months ago, A. A. Brock, Orange county horticultural commissioner, said today that marked progress has been made by Deputy Commissioner Charles F. Collins and two assistants in the county's campaign to wipe out the squirrel pest.

"This fight," Brock said, "will continue, as will the fight against injurious weeds, until we have succeeded in making Orange county one of the cleanest and most desirable counties in Southern California."

"In some instances in the past a few ranchers have neglected to join wholeheartedly in the fight to eliminate pests and as a result squirrels and other rodents have multiplied rapidly."

Orchards Inspected
"During the month of January, however, excellent progress was made by Deputy Commissioner Collins and his assistants, and ranchers have been persuaded to make strenuous efforts to eradicate the pests."

"Considerable effort has also been expended in destroying injurious weeds."

"In our fight against rodents we have used the following amounts of poison grain, carbon bisulphide and jute balls: 1,686 pounds of poison grain; 89 gallons of carbon bisulphide; 3,930 jute balls. This combination, we find, brings excellent results."

"Our inspectors have also devoted much time to orchard inspection. We are making every effort to get fumigators into infested groves at the proper time, so that good results will be possible in our fight to control black and red scale. We are finding that most of the purple scale is in the egg stage, and fumigation against this pest will result in a poor kill."

"The citrus spider, to, has come in for close attention by our field workers. Considerable spray work has been done in an effort to eliminate this pest. Limesulphur and oil sprays are being used. This pest is quite severe in most of the orchards where fumigation has killed off the natural enemies."

"Our quarantine work has increased so rapidly it takes the major part of the inspection time in some districts. Several infestations of dangerous insect pests were intercepted during the past months. Inspection included 23,000 fruit and nut trees, 10,000 grape cuttings, 20,000 berry plants, 27,000 garden and ornamental plants, 19 carloads of potatoes and nearly 7,000 miscellaneous plants."

COUNTY PIMIENTO INDUSTRY PROBED
Prepared to submit their findings to Senator Hiram Johnson and Representative Phil Swing, commissioners representing Santa Ana, Long Beach and Garden Grove Chambers of Commerce today were engaged in a thorough investigation of conditions surrounding the pimiento industry in Orange county.

"This investigation," said Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg, who represents the farm bureau in the conferences, "is being made because of reports received here from Washington that tariff reductions upon foreign-grown pimientos may have a very serious effect upon our product. The matter will also be taken up with Gray Silver, Washington legislative representative of the American Farm Bureau federation."

Those serving with Wahlberg on the committee are H. W. Nelson and E. A. White, Santa Ana; J. A. Knapp and John Mitchell, Garden Grove, and J. K. Reid and H. R. Fay of Long Beach.

This committee is scheduled to meet March 3 in the First National Bank building at Garden Grove.

Extra P. E. Cars For Iowa Picnic

The Pacific Electric company Friday will provide extra cars for its trains leaving here at 8:29, 9:29 and 10:29 a. m., J. C. Metzger, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce here, announced today.

The extra service, he said, is being arranged to accommodate former Iowans who desire to attend the Iowa picnic to be held at Lincoln park, Los Angeles, that day. Metzger said that at the request of many Iowans he had taken up with the Pacific Electric company the matter of putting on additional cars. It was intimated to him that hundreds would go from here and that a majority of them would rather go by train than by automobile because of the traffic congestion in the metropolis.

TO SHOW WAYS TO BRACE NUT TREES BEST

Walnut-tree bracing, a subject of vital interest to Orange county ranchers, will be featured by agricultural extension service experts near Tustin and West Orange tomorrow, according to Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg here today.

"These demonstrations," said Wahlberg, "will be held at the request of ranchers who are seeking protection. Last year numerous walnut trees were sundered because of excessive weight of nuts and foliage.

"In virtually every orchard there are from one to a dozen or more weak, individual trees that need attention.

"The weakness in these trees is generally due to improper crotch formations, which weaken one or more main limbs emanating from the crotch union. By means of proper wire bracing these weak trees can be saved from considerable damage."

Demonstrations will be held at the home of J. H. Vance, East Main street Tustin, 10 a. m., and at the home of H. D. Witt, North Flower street, West Orange, at 2 p. m.

With the use of galvanized wire and strong eye bolts, a very practical system of wire bracing has been perfected by the specialists of the college of agriculture, Wahlberg declared.

Blame Congress For Income Tax Filing Deadlock

The congressional debate in connection with the proposed reduction of income tax rates has misled many taxpayers into the belief that by withholding until the last moment the filing of their returns for 1923 they may be able to take immediate advantage of the contemplated reduced rates, according to information which A. B. Pile, deputy district internal revenue collector here, has received from Rex B. Goodell, collector of internal revenue, Los Angeles.

This situation has resulted in bringing the filing of returns almost to a standstill. Delay in filing will mean endless trouble, inconvenience and congestion, he says.

Under any legislation that might be enacted by congress, returns for 1923 income must be filed at the present rates and in exactly the same manner as last year, according to Goodell. No advantage can be gained by anyone through delay.

SUSPECT LEADS OFFICIALS TO RICH CACHE

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 20.—Stolen jewelry valued at more than $20,000 is expected to be recovered today as a result of the confession made here by Arthur Lippie, the "lone wolf" burglar, now in the county jail.

Late yesterday Lippie, who, officers say, has admitted robbing more than 200 Los Angeles and San Francisco residences, led the authorities to a cache along the Santa Clara river, in Ventura county, where he dug up valuables worth from $10,000 to $15,000.

Lippie was arrested two weeks ago by Police Chief Desgrandchamp as a burglar suspect, just after he had looted the fashionable McKittick residence in Montecito and was attempting to enter the home of former U. S. Senator W. A. Clark.

He stoutly denied being the "lone wolf" charged with the many crimes until yesterday, when he confessed, officers said, and led them to the Golden cache, which, he admitted, held a smaller amount of valuables than the one they expect to uncover today.

JAIL TRIO IN BIG COUNTERFEIT PLOT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—Three men who are asserted to have been making big ones out of little ones may have to reverse the order and "making little ones out of big ones." Their future operations, however, are more apt to be with a rock pile than with a stack of government paper money.

Manuel Valencia, Albert Fierro and Joseph Torres are in the county jail charged with raising and passing silver certificates. Arresting officers said Fierro was caught putting the finishing touches on a number of $2 certificates that had been raised to $20 bills. The alterations were so cleverly executed that none but an expert could detect the fraud, detectives stated.

Can Force Banker To Reveal Record

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—In an effort to collect income taxes, the government has the right to require employees or agents of a bank who knows facts as to deposits or investments or other dealings of parties who owe income taxes to testify in court to the entries made on the books of the banks relating to such transactions, according to a federal court decision received from Washington by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodell.

The ruling holds that the fourth amendment to the constitution, which prohibits unreasonable search and seizures, does not authorize a third person who has books and papers which may be relevant to federal tax liability to refuse to produce these books or papers and testify to the facts.

Under this decision, which affects the revenue act of 1921, collection of delinquent income taxes will be facilitated, as bankers will be required to supply, under oath, all information they possess as to the financial status of the delinquent taxpayer.

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Feb. 20.—The wrecking tug Homer was expected to arrive here today from San Francisco to begin salvaging operations on the passenger steamer Columbia, which grounded on the North Coos bay jetty Sunday. It is understood here the steamer Bert E. Haney has been chartered to take the Columbia's place in the coastwise run.

HONOR SOCIETY ROLL AT POLY SETS RECORD

A new scholarship record has been set at the high school here. It was learned today when it was announced that the present membership in the Honor society was the largest in the history of the organization.

One hundred and ten students have met the requirements for membership in the society. Among those students are Joseph Crookshank and Milton Davis stand first in grades, each getting 18 points, ten points above the necessary eight grade points required.

Seventy-nine of the 110 Honor society members have finished the first quarter of the merit system with 100 per cent citizenship rating, with only four members failing below 97 points.

Forty-six students received a grade of 1 in four solid subjects and thirty-six of these received four ones and 100 per cent in citizenship.

Juniors lead in class scholarship with forty members, with the seniors a close second with thirty-nine members, and sophomores with thirty-one.

VACUUM PROCESS IN FUMIGATION LAUDED

Vacuum fumigation is beginning to pass beyond the experimental stage, and from the number of inquiries received by the California department of agriculture, it is believed, has demonstrated its ability to successfully take care of certain problems which have heretofore been the cause of considerable loss to the dried fruit industry in the state of California.

It has become an established practice among the date growers to treat their product by this method, eight fumigators being in operation for this purpose. This year the California Peach and Fig Growers' association installed four fumigators for the treatment of its pack. The Walnut Growers' association treated some 160 tons of walnut meats last year and will treat approximately the same tonnage this year by this method.

This treatment has been applied to nursery stock and 100,000 citrus trees have been treated in the state during the past season. In this connection the state of Arizona has modified its quarantine against California grown citrus trees, and has allowed trees treated by vacuum fumigation to be brought to Yuma for planting on the Yuma Mesa reclamation project.

During the past year, forty-two carloads of citrus trees were sent to Arizona for this project. George Hill, superintendent of the Yuma Mesa Development company, has expressed himself as highly pleased with the results and has given it his unqualified endorsement, and states that the total of all injuries for which they cannot account did not exceed one-half of one per cent of the trees treated.

OBITUARY

SUSAN SNIDER POLLOCK

Many relatives and friends are mourning the death of Susan Snider and friends are mourning the death of Susan Snider Pollock, 806 Riverside Avenue, whose passing occurred Friday, February 15th, 1924, at 10:35 p. m.

Mrs. Pollock was born at Easton, Pennsylvania, March 22nd, 1845, and with her parents moved to Ashland, Ohio, in 1848.

In early womanhood she met and married James Pollock and unto that union were born seven sons and one daughter. Had Mr. Pollock, who died May 9th, 1921, lived until September of that year, these grand old people would have celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

The Pollocks moved to Springfield, Missouri, for Mrs. Pollock's health, in 1882, and to San Diego, California, in 1887 for the same reason, and likewise to Santa Ana in 1913.

Always possessing a frail body, but a wonderfully active mind and a remarkably stout heart, hosts of people, wherever Mrs. Pollock has resided, will remember her as the good angel who came in a time of sickness or ministered to those who needed spiritual aid.

She was a life-long member of the Presbyterian church, the Rev. Dr. Roberts of the First Presbyterian church officiated at her funeral.

Seriously ill for more than a year, it became known a week ago last Thursday that the end was only a question of hours.

Surviving her are six sons: Arthur N., Nampa, Idaho; Calvin D., El Paso, Texas; Frank R., and Harold K., Santa Ana, Calif.; Clinton S., Pomona, Calif., and Earl B. Pollock, San Diego, Calif.

Your Question and its answer

QUESTION—"My neighbor's little girl was sick the other night with cold and fever. Was I right in telling her your adjustments would get quick results?"

ANSWER—You were quite right in offering your advice. In fevers, the radiation and elimination of excess heat is mainly through the skin, and the skin is largely governed by the kidneys. Spinal Adjustments in the dorsal region where the nerves are pinched will cause the kidneys to function 100 per cent, thus restoring proper elimination of poisons and bodily waste. A cold with fever never gets far under Spinal Adjustments, as the real cause is quickly corrected. This is equally true in most acute ailments. We are not handicapped with the uncertainty of diagnosis in prescribing a remedy. We readily recognize the cause of the patient's illness, and we require but one remedy, the correction of the cause.

This department is conducted to spread the knowledge of Chiropractic for the correction of the CAUSE of sickness. Questions will be answered in the order received if addressed to

SANTA ANA

Women Eager to Fix Own Views At Polls, Avers National Chief

Her husband's information on how to vote may serve as a gauge in the home; but the chances are that when the wife finds out for herself the vital points at issue in elections she will do her own thinking.

This conclusion, drawn here today by Mrs. W. H. Bray, Pacific Coast director for the National League of Women Voters, was outlined by her as a reason why women of the United States find an active interest in the organization she represents. Women want to find a means of knowing for themselves what steps they will take, she added.

Here for the purpose of organizing a Santa Ana unit or league, in the interest of which she was interviewing today women prominent in local civic and patriotic clubs, Mrs. Bray advanced some pithy observations she had made in her contact with American women.

They concluded: Can Do Housework Too. Canadian women living in the United States fairly jump at the chance of studying politics; but they shy at jury duty.

Women of Oregon show no timidity about sitting in a jury box, nor about getting election information.

An organization of women progresses to the same degree that its leaders are energetic.

The day has passed when men who think really believe a woman can not do justice to her home duties and her franchise at the polls, simultaneously, and at the same time take any activity to obtain protective legislation for women.

Women at the present time are as derelict at the polls as men; women, because they have had the franchise for a few years, might have a just alibi.

The fair sex might not need a league such as she represents if there was a woman on every committee that passes on national statutes.

And, women can study and react on problems of national political interest without being unanimously partisan.

Declaring it was yet unknown to her what Santa Ana women would likely take the lead in the league proposed here, Mrs. Bray stated that the date of an organization meeting was being held in abeyance until she had discussed the situation with a list of clubwomen and others she intended to interview.

"The National League of Women Voters," Mrs. Bray continued, "has for its purpose the fostering of education in citizenship and the supporting of improved legislation."

"It is not a woman's party, or a separate political party; it is non-partisan, but it urges its members first to study issues at hand and then take sides, as individuals."

Work is Outlined. "At present it has interested itself in the proposed amendment to child labor laws and in California, child welfare, uniform laws for women, red light abatement law, Pacific colony for morons, a farm for delinquent women and other similar subjects."

"In its open forum each league seeks to train women for efficient citizenship and to give them political education in its broadest sense."

Mrs. Bray, whose work lies in the seven coast states of California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Nevada and Arizona had established headquarters here at St. Ann's Inn. She intimated organization announcements might be made by the end of the week.

TELLS WAY TO CUT IRRIGATION COSTS

Citrus fruit growers can reduce their irrigation costs 50 per cent by scientific handling of soils in cultivation, fertilization and irrigation, according to D. D. Waynick, manager of the insectary maintained at Anaheim by the two fruit exchanges of the county, who spoke at the annual meeting of growers of the Red Fox Orchards association, yesterday afternoon.

EXPERIENCE AS NURSE CAUSES MRS. FLEMING TO ENDORSE TANLAC

California Woman Regained Strength, Following Operation, by Tanlac Treatment — Recommends It To Patients.

"I would never have believed any medicine on earth could help me like Tanlac did," is the precise statement of Mrs. Cecelia Fleming, 3915 Addison St., Berkeley, Calif., a practical nurse of sixteen years' experience.

"In 1904 a serious operation weakened my system so I never saw a real well day until I took Tanlac three years ago. I never seemed to be hungry, my stomach was so disordered I could scarcely retain a thing I ate, and I lost weight till I was almost a shadow. I was very anemic, and shattered nerves and sleepless nights contributed even more to my already miserable state.

"Tanalac built up my appetite and digestion wonderfully, and every single ailment went away. Then, with returning strength came a 32-pound increase in weight, and from that day three years ago my health has been splendid. I recommend Tanlac to many of my patients, for it is indeed a remarkable medicine."

Tanalac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold. Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills—adv.

WAS TO CHECK INCOMES ARE REVEALED

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Collector Rex B. Goodcell warned income taxpayers today that innumerable avenues of information for checking up incomes that come within the provisions of the revenue act had been set in motion under instructions from Washington.

"Single persons whose net income was $1,000 or more and married persons whose net income was 2,000 or more must file returns," Goodcell said, "and under the checking system already in operation every person whose income for 1923 was $1,000 or more has been reported to the internal revenue bureau."

"One of these sources of information is the 'information at source' provision of the revenue act. Under this provision report must be made by all persons, corporations and partnerships of payments of income to others during the year of $1,000 or more. Information returns are carefully checked with the individual return of the taxpayer to which such payments were made. Thousands of delinquent and additional taxes aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars have been discovered as the result of this audit."

"The act requires report of all fixed and determinable income, such as wages, salaries, commissions and royalties. The requirement is not limited to periodical payments, but a single payment of $1,000 or more must be reported. A separate return for each employee whose salary or wage for 1923 was $1,000 is required of employers. Payment for overtime, fees, commissions, bonuses and the fair value of board and lodging furnished as part payment for services should be included.

"Fraternal organizations and associations are required to report salaries paid officers. Banks are required to report interest paid or credited to a depositor if the total during the year equaled or exceeded $1,000.

"A separate report of each payment of $1,000 or more is required on Form 1099, Form 1098, on which must be shown the number of separate returns serves as a letter of transmittal. The forms may be obtained at office of the collector of internal revenue and branch offices."

Bar Is Wreck. To get it they worked on the Old Absinthe House with axes, crow bars and sledge hammers. Mack Overpeck, divisional chief, says they "did no unnecessary damage, as a door was slammed in their faces. However that may be, the Old Absinthe House is thoroughly wrecked. What nearly 200 years could not do, Volstead has done.

The Old Absinthe House was known as the most romantic historic bar in the New World. The solid mahogany bar, made of imported French oak, was sailing ships in 1752, was topped by two thick slabs of white Carrara marble.

Out of these marble slabs rose two tall silver shafts, from which sprang delicate twisted silver faucets.

The water fell from these, regulated, drop by drop, in the proper method of dripping absinthe. In the years since 1752 from the innumerable absinthes dripping there the marble slabs were cut three inches deep in strange patterned guilches from the drop-by-drop erosion of the water.

A deep gash in one of the wooden walls, head high, has been pointed out from generation to generation.

Riotous Revel. It marks the spot where in a moment of riotous LaFitte fought his famous duel with General Humbert one of the leaders of Napoleon Bonaparte's armies, who was exiled because of his romance and elopement with Pauline Bonaparte.

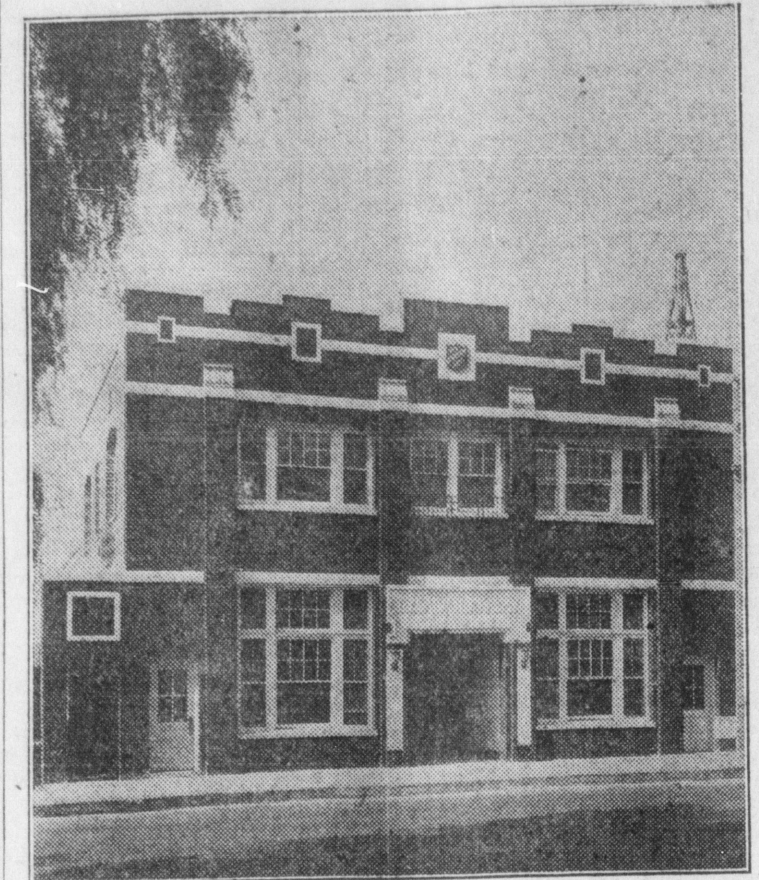

Pirate and exiled general drew sabre and cutlass simultaneously. The terrific swoop of General Humbert's sabre would have split the pirate's foot slipped on the sanded floor as he sought to guard and Humbert's sabre cut deep into the wall.

There is another deep cut on the surface of the mahogany bar. There it was, runs the tale, that Jean LaFitte in a moment of wrath, with a driving blow of his knife, pinned to the bar the hand of the British agent who met him and offered him gold and a British naval captain's commission if he would betray the pirate's secret of a narrow winding waterway that led to the city for a surprise attack.

The building that housed that world-famous bar was built of the small, flat, thin yellow bricks brought from France by sailing ships. The courtyard was a patio of purest Spanish type. The room that housed the bar was low-ceiled and heavy-timbered. Its door was taken from the old St. Louis hotel — the door that opened to the room where the slave-block stood just off the lobby. It was splintered in the raid.

DRINK RESULTS IN DOWNFALL OF OLD BAR

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20.—New Orleans' most romantic drinking place—the Absinthe House that stood unshaken for nearly a century and three quarters since it was founded in 1752—the place where the pirate Jean LaFitte raised his glass of dripping absinthe before the Battle of New Orleans was fought and boasted publicly what he and Napoleon Bonaparte would do to "ces sacres Anglaises," those accursed Brits, that shrine of alcoholic history stands a wreck today.

And a quarter of an ounce of absinthe did it.

Federal prohibition agents, raiding the place, found the quarter of an ounce of absinthe, their official report shows.

To get it they worked on the Old Absinthe House with axes, crow bars and sledge hammers. Mack Overpeck, divisional chief, says they "did no unnecessary damage, as a door was slammed in their faces. However that may be, the Old Absinthe House is thoroughly wrecked. What nearly 200 years could not do, Volstead has done.

Bringing to fruition a labor of love which has extended over a period of many months and has had the active support of prominent Santa Ana business men and other residents, officers of the Salvation Army today were engaged in formal plans for the dedication here tonight of the Army's $18,000 home service building.

Although Commander Evangeline Booth had hoped to be able to visit Santa Ana at this time, announcement was made today by Commander J. C. Douglas that her physical condition precluded all possibility of her delivering an address here.

"I called upon Miss Booth in Los Angeles last night," said Commander Douglas, "and found her extremely hoarse. She spoke briefly to Salvation Army workers, but it was apparent she was laboring under a strain."

Notables Here. Anxious to assist in every possible manner, however, Miss Booth designated Colonel F. J. Jenkins, national secretary of the Salvation Army and second in command, to address the Kiwanis club here at noon and the open meeting in the home service building at 7:45 p. m.

Colonel Jenkins, Commissioner Adam Gifford, Brigadier C. R. Boyd, Colonel Thomas Scott, Colonel W. J. B. Turner and other Army officers arrived here shortly before noon.

Launched at 12:15, with noon luncheon at St. Ann's Inn, the ceremonies were scheduled to close tonight, when Commissioner Gifford, on behalf of the Army, was to deliver one of the principal addresses in the service building.

Other speakers include the Rev. W. L. H. Benton, Brigadier C. R. Boyd, Former Mayor J. G. Mitchell, F. C. Blauer, R. R. Miller, Commander Douglas, P. S. Lucas, and others.

Building Visited. During the afternoon visitors from Los Angeles and all sections of Orange county inspected the new building.

At tonight's ceremonies John G. Mitchell, chairman of the advisory board, was to preside. Musical selections were to be given by Los Angeles Band No. 2, with vocal solo by Miss Grace Adams and other Army song leaders. The Salvation Army quartette, composed of G. Sly, S. Field, J. Frazier and H. Boyd, was on the program for several numbers.

All local officers and representatives of the Rotary club and the Santa Ana Realists club were guests of the Kiwanis club at today's luncheon at St. Ann's Inn.

TUSTIN, Feb. 20.—Colonial dresses will feature the program of the local Parent Teachers Association, Colonial Tea to be served in the kindergarten room of the local grammar school Friday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. Guests of the party are asked by the committee in charge of the program to come dressed in colonial costumes if possible.

Various classes of the grammar school will furnish numbers of the program and several other attractions will be offered. Cake and tea will be served and home made candy will be sold. The proceeds from the candy sale will be used by the P. T. A. to pay for the phonographs recently purchased for the lower grade students.

Mrs. F. T. Preble, chairman of the social committee, is in charge of the social arrangements. The room will be decorated in the national colors and the celebration of George Washington's birthday anniversary will also be carried out in the program. Mrs. John Sauer and Mrs. Robert Kirk are members of the program committee.

LA HABRANS IN ATTACK HERE ON DANCE

With the hearing on a petition to the board of supervisors set for March 11, at 2 p. m., the dance hall conducted by Warren Deberry at La Habra today found itself under the fire of criticism and a demand for its removal.

The petition, signed by 100 La Habra citizens, and endorsed by the La Habra Brotherhood, was filed with the supervisors late yesterday. It attacked the dance hall "as a resort of vice and disorder, without hope of reformation," in the opinion of the petitioners, because of its situation, presumably meaning its location outside of an incorporated city.

Every Tuesday and Friday night, on which the dances are held, the dance hall and its immediate vicinity are scenes of drinking and immorality, the petition charged. The community is kept awake until late hours by revelers who are profane and boisterous, according to the petitioners.

Because of its near location to a school and a church the dance hall exerts a bad influence over the youth of the community, was the belief expressed by the petitioners, who set forth the opinion that the resort could not be conducted in an orderly manner.

On the basis of that belief, the La Habra citizens seek to have the dance hall closed under a county ordinance adopted a few months ago, giving the supervisors power to revoke the license of any dance hall at any time upon proper showing of cause.

40 AND 8 STUNT CREW DUE FOR ACTS TONIGHT

If you see a French box-car and a merry assemblage of bedecked gentlemen running amuck in Fourth street tonight, don't send in a riot call, but remember 'tis Wednesday night and that the rank and file of the Forty and Eight, including some of our best-known young residents, are doing their stuff. The smock and the nifty little chapeaux will add color to the promenade of the playground organization of the American Legion.

According to Z. B. West jr., chet de gare, tonight's big stunt and a batch of poor goods will "get theirs" and all the trimmings.

"The conductor requests," said West, "that all members of the wrecking crew report at Legion Hall at 6:30 p. m., and we urge them to see that all goods are in place by 7 sharp. According to present plans, this is going to be the best ever."

But there will be a grand parade before the ex-service men go into private session, according to J. A. Plank and other active workers. The promenade will start at 7:30 with fireworks, music and other spectacular features.

The box-car of the French railway, with the inscription 40 Hommes 8 Chevaux (40 men—8 horses), is the insignia of the organization, officially known as the 40 Hommes 8 Chevaux French titles distinguish the officers, and the ritual revives the memories of war days.

Members are known as "voyageurs militaires," or military travelers, and the candidates are "prisonniers de gare," or poor goods. A wrecking crew puts on the initiation.

Suspect Prisoner Feigning Insanity. LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—W. H. Warren, in jail here, who "confessed" recently that he had murdered his wife and baby and threw their bodies into a ditch near San Pedro, is suspected of feigning insanity to escape punishment for alleged passing of fictitious checks, officials of the district attorney's office stated. His alleged victims were found alive and well and living in San Pedro.

Ring Death Boxer Is Given Freedom. STOCKTON, Cal., Feb. 20.—Jesse Webster, Oakland negro boxer, was released from custody today when the grand jury adjourned without returning indictments in its investigation into the death of Ed Holley, Webster struck the blow which resulted in Holley's death and has been held in jail since February 5. No further action against officials of the club will be taken until the superior court decides the validity of the local ordinance on March 4.

The local city council passed an ordinance yesterday prohibiting boxing where an admission is charged.

Select Officials To Inspect Plants. SACRAMENTO, Feb. 20.—Three United States customs officials at Tia Juana have been appointed to assist the federal horticultural board in the inspection of certain plant products from Mexico, which might carry injurious agricultural pests, according to information received by G. H. Hecke, director of the state department of agriculture.

Mississippi was the first state in the Union to establish an agricultural high school.

Southern California

LANKERSHIM—A Lankershim Coudridge club has been organized here with a charter membership of fifty representative electors. The following officers were elected: E. W. Blanchard, president; Earl Killon, campaign director; Carl Peterson, secretary. It was decided to affiliate with the Los Angeles Coudridge club as well as with like clubs throughout the valley. The purpose is to conduct an active pre-primary campaign.

HEBER—Calceico members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce have conferred with Heber business men in an effort to encourage the reorganization of the Heber Chamber of Commerce. Secretary George Gage of the Calceico organization, with L. M. Hutchinson and J. P. Siegel, addressed made at the conference here urged the Heber men to get together for the good of their community and offered to co-operate with them. A committee of Heber men was named to arrange for organizing a chamber here.

EL CENTRO—Imperial Valley strawberries will reach the Los Angeles and coast markets at less than formerly as the result of action taken by American Railway Express officials in reducing express rates. The new rates will mean a reduction of $60 a carload and permission also was given to ship berries to Los Angeles, San Diego and nearby cities without icing them this season. A special express train also will leave the valley every day during the spring shipping season, placing berries and other products in Los Angeles early each morning.

LONG BEACH—Further filling in of Alamitos Bay by a subdivision company will be prevented by the city council for the reason that the city council has decided and the city attorney has been instructed to take the necessary steps to halt the work. Almost one-third of the bay has been marked for filling by the subdivision company which has placed a dredger in the bay, according to a letter written to the council by W. R. Grundy and N. F. Snyder.

SAN FERNANDO—The Chamber of Commerce budget drive has been brought to a close with $7000 of the required $10,000 pledged. The sum expected to be collected is of such size as to warrant going ahead with the publicity plan as originally outlined. This means the employment of an experienced secretary-manager. The money in sight will start the work and carry it along until near the holidays. It is believed that it will then be a matter of but a few days of consistent driving to gather sufficient funds to complete the quota and carry the work through the twelve months.

NEWHALL—F. A. Graves is serving as towerman in the co-operative lookout tower on Oat Mountain. The large number of fires that have broken out recently are responsible for the early establishment of safety stations. The unusual dryness of the season makes the hazard greater than ever.

MONROVIA — C. J. O'Connor, former president of the Chamber of Commerce and prominent in local civic organizations, has been re-elected president of the chamber. The other officers are: Vice president, Lincoln G. Packard; board secretary, Mrs. J. P. Seymour; treasurer, W. A. Chess. The new president will name his standing committees at an early date.

OXNARD—County Farm Adviser C. C. Staunton, and T. L. Reedy of this section, recently of Tulare, are interested in the formation of a Ventura county poultry association. The two men are at present making a survey of this district and conferring with local poultry men. Reedy was connected with a poultry organization in Tulare and states that it was a great benefit to poultrymen in that section. He said that poultrymen would be attracted to this locality if there were such an association here.

MONROVIA — Indicating that the condition of the city finances is excellent and that Monrovia is held in high regard by bond buyers, the municipal bond issues of $246,000 has been sold to the Los Angeles Security and Trust company, for $5,016.24 premium above the face of the issue. This was nearly $500 over the next highest bidder. The bonds consist of $180,000 for water improvement, $106,000 for this city's share in building a bridge between Arcadia and Monrovia and $50,000 for the erection of a city hall annex.

CALEXICO—Following the cessation of work in the construction of the new railway line between Mexicali and La Bamba, near the mouth of the Colorado River, it has been given out that private capital will be used to complete the road. The construction was started by the Mexican government department of railways, but was stopped a few weeks ago because of the revolution in Mexico and the asserted need of all available funds for the use of the army.

SAN DIEGO—The proposed $1,000,000 bond issue to provide for development of a source of water supply in the San Diego river will be increased to at least three times that sum, it has been tentatively decided by the city council and the voters will be asked to approve the latter amount at an election to be called in the near future. While several units of the municipal water system now contain more than 40,000,000 gallons, further development of the water resources of the county are declared to be imperative if the future growth of the community is not to be impaired.

NEW STORM DRAIN. LONG BEACH, Feb. 20.—A contract at $83,000 has been awarded by the city council for the construction of the Santa Fe avenue storm drain, including Termino, Roswell and other streets.

FROM Ketchikan in the south-east to Nome in the north-west defines the long and hazardous trail of Miss Ebba Djuppe, American Red Cross field representative in Alaska. It is a stretch of 1,400 miles as the crow flies. By boat and dog sled she gravitates out across the mountains with their Indians to the Arctic Circle with its Eskimos and midnight sun.

This Red Cross nurse halts at nothing in her task of organizing the work and services of the eleven chapters of the American Red Cross that thrive in "Seward's Ice Box," as the Alaskan Peninsula was cynically designated at the time the United States purchased from Russia this land of limitless resources. The Indians and Eskimos, and all the others pioneering in this vast territory, Miss Djuppe declares, are "the most lovable people." Duty requiring a steamboat trip up the Yukon river from Nome, and the culinary equipment of the vessel threatening to starve her, Miss Djuppe signed as ship's cook, and reports that "the loveliest part of this new occupation is that I will save almost $100 of steamboat fare for the Red Cross."

Arriving at an Indian village from which calls for assistance for the sick adults and children had been sent out, she found nothing but the school building habitable and the place where the sick were congregated in a deplorable condition. There was only one small room to accommodate the sufferers and the Indian women immediately surrounded the cabin, curious to see the stranger come to act the "medicine man."

The needs of health service among the Indians and Eskimos in remote Alaska are very urgent and the death rate among the infants appalling, but through the Red Cross field service in the territory the worst conditions are being attacked with vigor and with encouraging results.

The spirit of this Red Cross service in this difficult field is best conveyed by Miss Djuppe, who writes: "Some days I have come back to my room feeling just heart sick, and then I have said: 'This is the reason I am here.' When I came to a spot they call a village I almost gave way to dejection; but then, this is the reason why I am here, else the American Red Cross certainly never would have given me the chance to be chief steward on a steamboat with four Eskimos to take my orders."

$65,000 STAMP SALE LAW SUIT MAN SPEAKER

One of philately's most fascinating mysteries—involving the genuineness of the forty-three Hawaiian missionary stamps which George H. Grinnell of Los Angeles sold for $65,000 to John A. Klemann, well-known New York stamp dealer and which the latter through a court action he brought later in Los Angeles, against Grinnell succeeded in having branded as forgeries—today was a big source of speculation in the minds of members of the Stamp Collectors' club of Orange county, who met at Ketter's cafe here last night and heard Grinnell tell of his unimpeachable subsequent to the trial to establish the genuineness of the stamps.

Various stories printed last year are claimed by Grinnell to present but one side of the case and in view of further evidence supporting the genuineness of the stamps in question, he is writing a book which he hopes will convince the collecting world that his stamps are not bogus.

Hears of "Find"
During November, 1919, Klemann was advised of a large "find" of "Missionaries" and on the advice of a Western dealer friend left for Los Angeles, where, after some negotiation, he agreed to buy the forty-three stamps from Grinnell for $65,000. Klemann returned to New York, and on comparing the stamps with known genuine copies found marked discrepancies which convinced him that the stamps he had purchased were forgeries. His suit against Grinnell in the Los Angeles courts ensued. After a trial lasting two weeks the court, in June, 1922, decided in favor of Klemann on the ground that the stamps were forgeries. Klemann's judgment totalled $73,125.

Subsequently, while perfecting an appeal of the case, Grinnell accepted a compromise offer from Klemann, through which Grinnell procured the return of the stamps, on condition that he not appeal the case, and made a profit of more than $15,000.

Says Evidence Poor
Grinnell submits that owing to the fact that his counsel relied on the legal aspect of the contract between the parties as to the "warranty" given as to the genuineness of the stamps, the evidence on which he relied to prove the stamps genuine was but poorly presented and further than since the trial, he has discovered proof bearing on the true history of the origin of the stamps.

Grinnell recounted at considerable length for the stamp collectors here the story of how this additional proof was obtained, and displayed various affidavits bearing on the case.

Of chief interest, perhaps, to the club were a dozen copies of the stamps in question, which Grinnell exhibited.

Attendance Sets Mark
The attendance was greater than at any previous meeting of the organization. Visitors from Los Angeles included, beside Mr. and Mrs. Grinnell, R. F. Harris, V. L. Bassinet, W. C. Henry, Paul Landis, Robert McClary, J. D. Fisher, George Fonnay, L. W. Orear, R. K. Milne, C. S. Thompson and Fred Norton.

Members present included J. E. Alexander and son Stanley, Adelbert Porter, O. H. Phinney, Arthur Norman, Arthur Kubitz, Frank J. Ford, H. A. Reuter, all of Santa Ana; Walter L. Brown, Anaheim.

1923 GOES ON FILE AS HEALTHIEST YEAR

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Last year was New York city's healthiest, according to a report submitted to Health Commissioner Monaghan by Dr. William H. Guilfoyle, registrar of records of the health department.

The city's death rate for the year was but 11.72 per 1000 of population, as compared with the previous low rate of 11.93 in 1922, a decrease of .21.

This means that 120,093 lives were saved during the year, as contrasted with other years, the report set forth.

There was a decrease of 1227 deaths from measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough and diphtheria.

The report read: "There has never been a year in which the health of the city has reached the acme of physical well being as in the year just closed."

"When we recall that in 1898 205 deaths took place out of every 1000 children born, and contrast that with 66 deaths during 1923, it is no wonder there is rejoicing at this unprecedented lowering of the infant death rate."

Rich Bavarians May Lose Homes If Spendthrifts

BERLIN, Feb. 20.—Dictator von Kahr is determined to enforce the simple life among the wealthy Bavarians.

From within his barbed-wire barricaded official residence in Munich, from which he has not ventured forth since the Hitler-Ludendorff beer cellar revolution, Von Kahr has issued a new order against the "good times" and "high living" of the free spenders among the rich.

The dictator says that their lavish ways are "a public nuisance." Those found guilty hereafter will have their homes confiscated. Owing to the great scarcity of houses the dictator believes the seizure of homes will be more of a deterrent than jail sentences.

Petitions Court To Compel $1000 Escrow Sum Paid

Transferred to this county from Riverside county, a suit instituted by Charles E. Sprouse against A. E. McLean of Fullerton was on file today in the superior court here.

Sprouse, represented by Attorney Harry L. Person of Los Angeles, asks judgment for $2,500 against McLean, and also seeks a court order to compel the Title Insurance and Trust company, Los Angeles, to turn over $1,000 of McLean's money held in escrow.

The suit was filed in connection with an alleged agreement by McLean to purchase property belonging to Sprouse in the vicinity of Temecula, Riverside county. The agreed price was alleged to be $3,500. Sprouse asserted that McLean posted $1,000 in escrow on the deal, but, subsequently, refused to pay the rest of the money.

Attorney Guss Hagenstein, Fullerton, represents the defense.

ADOPTS LEAST RESISTANCE AS POLICY

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—The principle of least resistance is the basis of the colonial system of Great Britain, according to A. W. Hamilton, police commissioner of Kedah, one of the unfederated states of the Malay peninsula, a recent visitor here.

"The Malay peninsula is made up of the Straits Settlements, which is a British colony, a federation under British protection, and a third unfederated group, which asked to be taken under the protection of the British lion," Mr. Hamilton said.

"At first Kedah was an independent state under a native sultan, but the sultan decided he needed some British advice in running his affairs of state. He asked the British government to appoint an adviser to the throne, which was done, and the adviser made such a good impression that the sultan asked for more help. This time to straighten out Kedah's tangled financial affairs."

"His Sultan Majesty evidently thought this adviser business was turning out to be a good thing for him. It gave him more leisure, and he could have an adviser to look after his judicial and legal system, so one was duly appointed. Finally came a request for someone to take charge of the policing of Kedah. That's where I came in, and have been 'chiefing' for some time."

The "adviser" system works perfectly, with satisfaction for all concerned, according to Mr. Hamilton. The government, although its head is native, is really made up by strong British advisers. The natives are pleased because they have a smoothly running government, and Britain is pleased because of the obvious security of its trade in Kedah.

"It is a splendid example of the velvet glove of making the other fellow come to you to be bossed," Mr. Hamilton describes the practice. "While the natives are convinced that they are entirely self-governing, in reality, of course, they are ruled by the British and their ignorance is their bliss."

The greater part of the population of Kedah is Malay, the commissioner said, although in the south portion there are a few Chinese and Japanese. The chief products are rice and rubber. The Malay peninsula, according to statistics, produces more rubber than any other similar area in the world, more even than many countries much larger where rubber is an important product.

BLAMES RUM FOR THEFT CONFESSION

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Feb. 20.—To catch a hijacker, give him more liquor—internally.

This was the theory used by John A. Doyle, private detective of this city, and Arthur F. Kohmann, proprietor of a hotel at Jay and Canfield streets, in getting a confession from Francis Mulroy of Syracuse, accused of stealing $10,000 worth of bonded liquor from Kohmann, it was alleged in supreme court.

Mulroy, through his attorney, Louis E. Fuller, declared Doyle and Kohmann got him drunk in the Onondaga hotel, Syracuse, and made him sign a statement incriminating himself and George Bad.

On the ground that his constitutional rights had been violated when this confession was used as basis of an indictment, Mulroy sought to inspect the grand jury minutes. Justice Stephens reserved decision until he inspects the minutes himself to see whether the indictment was irregular.

It was alleged by Fuller that Mulroy was compelled to appear before the grand jury as a witness against himself without waiving immunity.

Assistant District Attorney Franey presented an affidavit of Doyle in which it is denied liquor was served or that force was used in getting the confession.

Mulroy and Bad are accused of backing a truck into the yard of Kohmann's mother, Mrs. George Glickart, 42 Child street, and removing the liquor from the cellar of his house.

UNIVERSITY TAKES STAND FOR JUSTICE

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 20.—Early in the fifty-first year of its life, Valparaiso University, situated in Valparaiso, one of the northern Indiana's beautiful cities, is taking steps to correct the misinformation sent out last summer that it was about to be taken over by the K Klux Klan. A committee composed of former students, the membership of which is country-wide, is being organized to carry this into effect. On its stationery and in a conspicuous place on every document which the committee or the University issues is printed "To perpetuate Valparaiso University as a great independent, impartial, non-sectarian educational institution not privately owned, and allied with no lodge, racial group or religious denomination."

It is certain this will be very good news to its 100,000 or more former students and graduates now scattered all over the United States and in foreign lands, many of them, conspicuous and most progressive citizens in their communities. Exactly how many students Valparaiso University has had might be difficult to ascertain but reliable authority places it at about 122,000. The university is endeavoring to ascertain the names and addresses of all former students and will appreciate assistance from them in this endeavor.

Some time ago, wide circulation was given to a statement to the effect that Valparaiso University was about to be taken over by the Ku Klux Klan. This report created indignation among former students and among friends of the university which had had such a long career of great usefulness. However, the report now seems to have served a good purpose for staunch friends came to the support of the university and today there is every reason to believe that before long it will be re-established in its former glory and that it faces a greater power for educational good than ever.

WALL ST. JOURNAL FINANCIAL REVIEW

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—The stock market today was full of cross currents throughout the session. It was easily swayed by the various items of interest and a great deal of the business was transacted on the floor of the exchange itself because of the dropping of the wire services in various sections of the country.

The tax controversy in Washington enjoyed the center of the stage and arguments were offered, both bullish and bearish, on what had happened so far and traders operated accordingly. Prices opened steady and, especially in some specialties, there was strength among the bulls, copper and railway 47%, off 47%, and met support.

ROTARY CLUB NATAL DAY CELEBRATED

In celebration of the fourth birthday of the Santa Ana Rotary club, its members and their wives last evening held a banquet at St. Ann's Inn. Following the banquet they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Yost at the evening performance at Yost's Theater.
With Charles L. Davis, chairman of the entertainment committee, in charge, Rotarians enjoyed a program of unusual merit.
This included a solo by Miss Holly Lash, a vocal duet by Miss Lash and Ellis H. Rhodes, a violin solo by Mrs. Elmer Heidt, a piano solo by Clarence A. Gustlin, and a solo by Harry Lauder, a nephew of Sir Harry Lauder.
The address of the evening was by Fred Groton, a member of the Rotary club of Huntington Beach. Groton's talk included the reading of a number of poems written by him. Some of these expressed ideals of Rotary, while others were human interest stories of boy life.

DARK HALLS MAKE LIGHT MEN KICK

BERLIN, Feb. 20.—The municipal electric works have applied to police headquarters demanding re-establishment of the regulation forcing apartment owners to keep their hallways and doorways lighted until 9 a. m. "because the electric works are losing money through the new 'darkness' regulations."
When the price for electric current went beyond the reach of even the richest apartment house owner, a new system was inaugurated whereby the dwellers within the building could have hall lights burning until 8 and 9 p. m. if they paid for the current themselves.
Naturally, they refused, so Berlin apartment houses' hallways and doorways are unlighted—and the saving in current is causing the electric works concern.
The police declare they realize that the hallways should be lighted at least until the evening mail and newspapers arrive—possibly 8 p. m. but see no reason why they should be lighted thereafter merely because the municipal works suffers from lack of business. But the matter is up to the individual renters in the apartment houses.
The high price of current caused it all.

His home is in Morgantown, W. Va., where on the death of his father he assumed charge of the Elkins' coal and other interests, which are extensive.
Elkins is 48 years old.

Elkins appeared before the senate Teapot Dome committee room during the executive session this morning. He sent word in that he would like to appear and the committee members notified him they would hear him later.

While he was waiting, Elkins went to his office for a conference with Harry Payne Whitney, New York sportsman, and Winney's lawyer, Frank L. Crocker, who had just appeared before the committee.

Will Call Sinclair.
Harry F. Sinclair will be called to the witness stand Monday in the oil scandal inquiry, Chairman Lenroot of the Teapot Dome committee announced today.

The committee believes Sinclair has "the whole story" and they intend to compel him to tell it. Lenroot said he saw no reason for issuing an immediate subpoena for Sinclair, who arrived in New York today.

Harry Payne Whitney, millionaire New York sportsman, who was associated with Harry F. Sinclair, testified before the committee in executive session this morning. He was accompanied by his lawyer.

Whitney was questioned by members of the committee as to his purchases and sales of mammoth oil stock. Whitney told the committee that he now owns more than 100,000 shares which he accumulated from various sources. He was before the committee half an hour.

DAUGHERTY WELCOMES SENATE PROBE PLANS
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Attorney General Daugherty today announced in a statement that he welcomed the opportunity to meet any charge against his administration of the department of justice.

"I have read the speech of Senator Wheeler, delivered in the senate yesterday," said Daugherty's statement.
"He has been misled and at the proper time the truth in regard to all these matters will be given to the public. These charges were all exploited before the judiciary committee of the House last winter in the impeachment proceedings against me and after a long and careful hearing and investigation the committee, by a vote of 20 to 1, partly lines being forgotten, declared them to be unfounded."

Immediately after issuing his statement Daugherty left his office. His statement followed a conference with President Coolidge at which Daugherty went over the charges made by Senator Wheeler in a speech late yesterday in the senate and told Mr. Coolidge he intended to reply to them.

CALIF. WOMEN LEAD IN TAX ON INCOMES

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 29.—Thousands of women are filing income tax returns in Southern California, and it is estimated that income in excess of $140,000,000 will be reported for taxation by women alone in California as a whole.
Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell said today that the 1923 income reported by California women would come within $15,000,000 of the combined personal income of all classes that will be turned in by the states of Arizona, Utah and New Mexico.

"More than 10,000 California women will file returns for 1923 as heads of families, by reason of the support in one household of one or more relatives," Collector Goodcell declared. "The exemptions allowed the head of a family are $2500, where the net income was $5000 or less, and $2000 where the net income exceeded $5000. Income reported by these women in 1922 amounted to $20,323,294. In addition there were filed 32,395 returns by single widows, divorcees and women living apart from their husbands. The amount of income reported from this source was $76,292,738.

Exemptions Told
"A woman who was widowed during 1923, unless the head of a family or remarried on or before December 31, 1923, may claim only an exemption of $1000. A wife supporting an invalid husband in a sanitarium of $2500 or $2200, according to whether her net income was $5000, or less or in excess of $5000. The separation is one of necessity, and she is not considered for income tax purposes to be 'living apart' from her husband. If, however, there is continuous voluntary separation between husband and wife, each must take the status of a single person with respect to the income tax.

"Any single woman whose net income was $1000, or more, or whose gross income was $5000, or more in 1923 must file a return. There can be only one head of a family in a household.
"In 1921 there were 5150 women who filed returns separate from their husbands in which $30,292,738 was listed for taxes.

Many Single Returns
"Joint returns filed by husbands and wives, separate returns filed by single men and by men who were heads of families, reported personal income of $1,036,551,518. Of these returns 194,295 were joint reports calling for personal income of $726,731,477."

More single women filed income returns in 1922, in California, than the combined number of similar returns filed in the eleven Western states of Oregon, Washington, Arizona, Utah, New Mexico, Nevada, Idaho, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and North Dakota, it was stated. The number filing in these states was 31,357, as against 33,395 reported in California.

"This survey," said Collector

FILM STAR IN NEW TANGLE WITH LAW

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—Barbara La Marr, screen actress, whose court record has involved difficulties with juvenile authorities in bygone years, as well as four or five husbands since, has a new bid to publicity today.

Just as the Herman L. Roth extortion case, in which the star is the central figure, was drawing to a close, a suit was filed here naming Miss La Marr as defendant in an attempt to secure $12,166.75 because of a jewelry deal.

The firm, which claims Miss La Marr is seeking to stretch out over too long a period her payments on some valuables she purchased on Hollywood property pending a settlement, it was admitted.

Auto Wraps Booth On Traffic Officer
NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Patrolman George Gatsse, on duty in a traffic booth on Post avenue, Westbury, L. I., was carried twenty feet and buried in the wreckage of the shelter when it was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Kivighin. It took five minutes for rescuers to extricate the 200-pound policeman from the booth.

Gatsse took Kivighin before Justice of the Peace Kohler, where the prisoner pleaded guilty of reckless driving.
"Have you been drinking?" asked Kohler.
"I cannot tell a lie," began Kivighin.

Goodcell, "indicates that the women of California have become a remarkable factor in the production of income taxes. Income of $127,416,212 reported for taxation by the women of a single state means something. 'File your return early' is a slogan that applies especially to women who thus will avoid the congestion occurring in the revenue office. If you don't want to stand in line, file your return today."

Boy Stoic Who Kept Hurt Secret Fears He Will Lose Prize
SUNBURY, Pa., Feb. 1.—Sherman Yoder, eight, who accidentally shot himself in the leg one evening and then suffered all night rather than tell his mother, lay in a hospital here worrying because he could not attend school.

Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yoder of Shamokin, received a certificate from the state department of education last year for punctual attendance. This year he was to have received a gold seal, and the loss of it seems to worry him more than the wound.

Sherman was playing with his father's pistol while his parents were away. After shooting himself, he told his brother and sister not to tell and went to bed. His younger brother explained to the mother why Sherman groaned during the night.

"If I had obeyed mother the accident wouldn't have happened," Sherman said. "I just see now how near I was to death, and I might have killed my little brother and sister. I won't get my gold seal now. I am very sorry, but I am sure I will never play with a pistol again."

Science to Tell Of Trinit Man

PEKIN, Feb. 1.—The story of what some prominent scientists believe to have been the first human ancestor of the human race—of how he probably gained his livelihood, wooed his wives, reared his children and got his recreation—will soon be told to the world by Professor Dubois, famous Dutch paleontologist.

The Trinit man of Java, known to science as the Pithecanthropus Erectus, or upright man-ape, is supposed to antedate by thousands of years any other fossils of man ever found. Discovered by Professor Dubois more than 30 years ago the details of the find have been kept virtually a secret. It was known, the curia explained, that the skeleton, largely reconstructed, bore a resemblance to both man and the higher apes, but in many respects differed from both.

Something of the supposed age of the Trinit man is to be had from the

Vanquishes Beach Squad
In Unanimous Verdict;
H. B. Does Well

By IRMA YOUNG
ANAHEIM UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Feb. 20.—Last Friday the Anaheim debaters won the Orange county championship. This is the second successive year that Anaheim has won the cup, having gained it in 1923. Huntington Beach, who led the first of the series of the debate league, came over to Anaheim to vanquish their rivals, who were holding second place in the county at that time. Both schools had well prepared speeches and presented splendid arguments in their rebuttals, but Anaheim won by a 3-0 score, which gave them a ten out of twelve judges' decisions. Huntington Beach followed a close second, having seven out of twelve points. Miss Hickley, the dramatics teacher of the Anaheim high school, deserves a great deal of credit for sending her team to victory and a second Orange county debating title, students declare. The rooting for both sides was great, and despite the fact that Huntington Beach lost, they went home leaving the impression of being "good losers," and showing true sportsmanship.

GARDEN GROVE HAS SUCCESSFUL SEASON
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Feb. 20.—The second series of the county debate was held last Friday, Feb. 15, with several of the county high schools participating. The question for debate was, Resolved: that the United States should maintain a policy of non-participation in European affairs. Governmental non-participation means, total isolation economically and politically as far as governmental action is concerned. The line-up was as follows: Orange, Neg., vs. Huntington Beach, Aff.,-Orange wins. Huntington Beach, Neg., vs. Anaheim, Aff.,-Anaheim wins. Anaheim, Neg., vs. Fullerton, Aff.,-Anaheim wins. Fullerton, Neg., vs. Santa Ana, Aff.,-Santa Ana wins. Santa Ana, Neg., vs. Garden Grove, Aff.,-Garden Grove wins. Garden Grove, Neg., vs. Orange, Aff.,-Orange wins. Garden Grove lost the debate to Orange by the decision of one judge, but it won from Santa Ana by a score of 2 to 1.

The Garden Grove team was as follows: Inis Russell and Fern Wilson, affirmative; Norma Larsen and Elsie Smith upheld the negative side. Walter Thomason and Elene Porter of Santa Ana upheld the negative side of the question at Garden Grove.

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Feb. 20.—The track season has opened in earnest, and the fellows keep up the way they are starting, they will be leaguers who win. This year is the first for Garden Grove but the team is to be exceptionally fine. Some early records as examples are: shot put 36 feet, 10 inches; 60 yard dash, 5.9. These records are very good for this time of year, and according to Coach Spryng, there is some very fast and far putting material this year.

NEED ADVICE OF WASHINGTON TO GUIDE NATION IN CRISIS, SAYS TUSTIN WRITER

By AUBERNE HUFFMAN.
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Feb. 20.—How can the people of the United States fittingly honor George Washington, "Father of His Country," this season when grim politicians do not regard honor but consider only the loss and gain of their adversaries; and high officials seek plunder for themselves? Under such conditions will not the greatest respect be shown if every citizen, instead of eulogizing George Washington, turns to the standards he set and seeks to follow them. This is what the first president said about party strife: "The alternate domination of one faction over another, sharpened by the

No Decayed Eggs Found In Cooler; Chemists Blamed

BY EULAH HAPES
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Feb. 20.—"Who left the rotten eggs in the cooler?" asked Miss Scott after she had been irritated by a disagreeable odor. Birdie Baker began searching the cooler for the unfortunate egg. One by one she broke the eggs and soon had a large amount of good broken ones. Since the odor could not be located here, they began searching the desks and cupboards, but no clew could be found. At the end of the period the cause of the odor was discovered. Members of the chemistry class were making hydrogen sulphide.

NOVEL STUNTS PLANNED FOR VAUDEVILLE

By THELMA NORDSTROM.
TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Feb. 20.—At its vaudeville performance at the Tustin Union High school, Friday evening, February 29, the annual Junior affair, is this year changed from the regular routine of plays to something quite the opposite. Miss Underwood is directing two snappy, clever, one act plays; dances, and regular vaudeville stunts. Miss Stephens is taking charge of the music part of the program.

The entire class and the directors are working to the utmost of their ability to make every number on the program live up to their expectations. There will be no state stunts or dragging moments. Even the one act plays are an exception to the rule. There will be a jazz orchestra, although the regular high school orchestra will play before the performance. Some new and special music has been arranged for the occasion. A regular "thriller" will be "put over" in a play on the "High Cost of Living." The play takes place in 1963, quite an advance age, and several decades from the present day. "The Turtle Doves," Chinese in place, setting and idea is clever in its impersonation of customs and manners of that country. Thelma Artz has a dance that will charm the entire audience. Pierrette and Pierot will be there to give variety to the dancing stunts.

Clever before-curtain stunts, music, special singing and orchestra work make up a lively and well arranged program.

GROVE FACULTY TO VISIT ART COLONY

BY PEARL BLAEHOLDER
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Feb. 20.—The faculty held a meeting at the home of Mr. Hoensch, and behold Miss Scott worked on a luncheon set during the business meeting! Of course, Miss Crist didn't bring her fancy work along having, it is supposed, looked forward to leap year, but she admitted, on being questioned, that her fancy work was all done. After the business was over they planned a picnic to Laguna. Later in the evening refreshments of popcorn, cookies and chocolate were served and enjoyed to the last crumb. Then it was 9:30 o'clock and time for all austere faculty members to be in bed the meeting adjourned.

Knowledge of Physics Wins Horseshoe Match for Prof. Adds New Letters to Title

BY LILIAN TROWBRIDGE
FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Feb. 20.—Responding to a challenge issued in last week's assembly by Ed Kroeger, president of the student body of the Fullerton high school, Louis E. Plummer, principal, gave a demonstration of "horseshoe golf," better known as the gentle art of horseshoe tossing, last Friday afternoon. Two games were "tossed" during the contest, with Mr. Plummer both times proving his superior prowess. The first contest was the most evenly matched with Principal Plummer leading most of the time up to the last five points, when the student body president hurled the equine footwear within several inches of the stake with great regularity. Then the worthy pilot of the destiny of the local high school, through his superior knowledge of physics other scientific subjects, it is rumored, again scored and won 12-10. The second game was fairly even, but again the principal triumphed and took the long end of the score at 14-7. Elimination for a student doubles team to meet a picked faculty duo in horseshoe combat started Monday. On that afternoon the worthy pedagogy was sent to leave his office carefully carrying several of the magic pieces of artillery, to the practicing field. It is believed that he hopes to be one of those selected to take part in the contest planned for the near future, and is making ready to defend his present title, Louis E. Plummer, B. S. B. C. S., which has now these additions, C. H. S. T. (Champion Horse Shoe Tossing).

TRIBUTE TO WASHINGTON
George Washington, a man of the people, a forward-looking statesman, affords one of the finest examples for a man to follow.

As the nation commemorates his birthday, one is reminded of the splendid services rendered his country. Though he started out as a young surveyor, when the time came for assuming heavy public burdens, he was ready. Washington's task of whipping the colonies together in defiance of the mother country was easy in comparison with his post-war responsibilities of welding the thirteen states into a nation.

Washington proved himself a diplomat as well as a statesman. He laid the corner stone of a foreign policy which stood the United States in good stead for many years.

The burden of his farewell address to the American people, that America stay out of European affairs, affects, as everyone knows, the most pressing question of the day.

Washington is known to every school boy and stands as an example of ambition and courage, a love of honor and of truth.

DEBATOR RISKS LIFE TO WIN FOR SCHOOL

NEW OPERA TO BE GIVEN AT FULLERTON

BY LILIAN TROWBRIDGE
FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Feb. 20.—"Prince Jocund, Jr.," a comic opera, written by Miss Helen L. Wishard of the Fullerton union high school faculty, will be presented by students of the local school the evenings of Feb. 22 and 23 at the Fullerton union high school auditorium.

A cast of fifteen popular vocalists of the student body have been preparing this entertainment for several weeks under Miss Wishard's direction. In view of the fact that Pomona college desired the opera for their work on that campus, it is evident that a musical treat of real excellence and worth is being made ready for Fullerton audiences.

The opera is a full-length performance, not to be confused with an operetta, or with a musical comedy. "The story deals with the adventures of the three daughters of a wealthy American family who are living in England, and whom their aunt desires to see well married to noblemen of the realm. Annabelle and Arabella are wholly in sympathy with the scheme, but Mary, the third daughter, has other ideas and refuses to be a party to the various methods devised to capture the much desired marriage. Mary falls in love in a perfectly wholesome and normal fashion, allows her heart and not her aunt to dictate her matrimonial policy, and in the end—well, that would be telling.

Scenery From L. A.

The scenery is being obtained from Los Angeles theaters, a garden scene coming from the Mason opera house, and an exterior house scene from the Morosco. The music all through is light and catchy, and is full of variety and surprises. Cleverly costumed choruses will delight the eye as well as the ear. The lyrics have been specially written by the well known writer, Thomas Fleckner, who is regularly employed for such work by Stanford university and other well known schools. Miss Wishard is already well known to Orange county and Southern California music lovers for her compositions and for her work as director of music and as a concert singer.

The cast is as follows: Norma Lovering, Alice; Alice Parks, Ingeune; Arthur Hardison, Prince Jocund, Jr.; Ernest Hartz, Jester; Robert Downing, King; Arnold Quigley, Tompkins the butler; Katherine Gurley, Aunt; Annabelle, Alice Corcoran; Arabella, Josephine Taylor; Billy Swain, Captain; George Walker, Crier; Allen Robertson, Charles Petty; Myron Webster, George Forster, guards.

SANTA ANA GIRLS BEATEN
By Reva Azlin
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Feb. 20.—The girls' indoor baseball team played the Tustin girls in a practice game on the local court Tuesday, Feb. 12. Evidently, the girls were affected by something, perhaps the heat, which caused them to lose to Tustin by a large score. Both the first and second teams have been coming out regularly for practice under the coaching of Miss Aiton and have been doing good work, but they simply weren't in the mood Tuesday.

Grove Students to Visit Mission Play

WALLACE GEREN
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Feb. 20.—Members of the Spanish and History classes are looking forward expectantly to a proposed trip to see the Mission Play. About forty students are planning to go in a body. A personal letter from John Steven McGroarty, author and manager of the play, was received by the Spanish club, which is sponsoring the trip. Mr. McGroarty kindly offers club members and their fellow students rates at 55c with the promise of an introduction to the cast.

The Spanish crowd, who intend to go dressed in costume, feel that they will form a part of the spirit of the old Spanish days which characterizes San Gabriel. Every student in the school is urged to take advantage of this opportunity.

Huntington Beach Girl Writes of Struggle Through Blizzard

BY BETTY HAZELTON
(Submitted in Competition for the Tom Lewis Cup for the Best Fiction)
Bruce Wordone jumped up and dressed hurriedly. It was already six o'clock, and he had to make a fire and supply the farmhouse with wood for the day. It was a typical March morning of Northern Minnesota. Bruce went to the kitchen and quickly started a fire. He noted that the thermometer pronounced it forty-two degrees below zero, and he felt lucky that there was enough wood in the house to make two more armloads suffice. At seven Mrs. Wordone served a hot breakfast. Bruce took a few bites, and then prepared for his four-mile journey to school. Bruce was a sophomore of Washington High, and the snappiest debater in the school.

This morning at ten A. M. the debate between Washington and St. Paul Union High on the question of Philippine independence was to be held. He put on his fur-line boots, which reached almost to his hips, and garbed in a warm fur-lined blouse, a woolen muffler, fur-lined mitts and a cozy fur cap, he dashed to the tool-house for his snow shoes. After a struggle with them, he finally succeeded in getting them securely fastened.

Storm Coming Up
He hesitated an instant to regard the signs of the oncoming storm, a strong northerly gale flapped his coat vigorously and he found it needed the Gettysburg address. But around the collar of his mackinaw up around his head, before setting forth on his last four-mile journey. The drifts were covered with a frozen crust of flakes, thus making progress less difficult.

Already he had covered a mile of the distance to school, and if he could only reach Archer's corner before the storm broke, he would take the trail over the hill to Woodland, and catch a car. But alas! The break came. The snow came driving down, almost blinding him, and the gale became more terrific until it was a warm blanket of white. He fought on desperately. He must get there. The honor of Washington was at stake. The snow drifted around him till his breath was almost beaten from him—Bruce realized that his own hands were frozen. He rubbed snow on his face. Then he bent down and worked his way forward, fought on. Every nerve in his body was tense.

At Washington the coach paced the floor distractedly. Wilfred Harte, the second team substitute, Bruce, who had been called in to replace the second issue, prepared Bruce's speech. Luckily, Bruce had been no speaker of the affirmative, so there would be two speakers before him. Wilfred searched among his papers for notes. Ah! Here were a few of Bruce's own notes from his speech. "Resolved, that the Philippines if independent, could maintain themselves against external aggression." "Resolved, that because of the enemies Korea, China, Russia, 'People of different race, different land, different Scher-schmarine great protection'."

Now just to work up these notes. He must be able to bring it off. O'clock. Robert Johnson, Bruce's colleague, and Wilfred, mounted the platform and were greeted by yells from their school-mates. The assembly door opened—but no, it was only the wind. "Resolved, that the Philippines if independent, could maintain themselves against external aggression." "Resolved, that because of the enemies Korea, China, Russia, 'People of different race, different land, different Scher-schmarine great protection'."

Down, down, Bruce landed on his feet unhurt. The river! The storm was the bridge, but how had he fallen? He inspected the large concrete bridge, and saw that it was safe. The bridge had been torn off in an accident the day before. He fairly blew forward a speech fully as good as Robert's, and the second speaker would probably be better than Wilfred. The chairman announced "The second speaker of the affirmative will be—Wordone. Never before had any name rung so in Washington. He stepped upon the platform stood Bruce, still in fur boots. Bruce's voice rang loud and clear: "Resolved, that the Philippines if independent, could maintain themselves against external aggression." "Resolved, that because of the enemies Korea, China, Russia, 'People of different race, different land, different Scher-schmarine great protection'."

Bruce gave his speech as if his life depended on it, combining wit and reasoning into one great effort, inspired by his struggle with the blizzard. He took his seat, half-felt his colleague grip his hand; saw as through a haze, the negative speaker rise, heard the rebuttal, the rejoinder, taking his part. The decision. The chairman opened the sealed envelopes and slowly read: "Affirmative, affirmative."

A mighty cry rose from the assembly. Bruce's victory had been hushed as Bruce, rising to shake hands with his opponent, reeled and fell. The next Bruce knew he found himself on a couch in the office, his coach bending anxiously over him. "You have fought two battles today, my boy, and you have won them both."

WASHINGTON'S HOME ABROAD DESCRIBED

Old English Manor at Sulgrave Once Housed Queen Elizabeth
Written for the Junior Register by MILTON BRONNER
SULGRAVE, England, Feb. 20.—"Sh-h-h, children! Be very quiet and remember not to say a word. The very life of one you know may depend upon it."

The speaker, a tall, good-looking man, was addressing his 11 children, four boys and seven girls. He was peering anxiously through the leaded panes of a millioned window, looking out on the green fields of Northamptonshire.

Nearby was the little village of Sulgrave, with perhaps 150 inhabitants. From there a man strolled leisurely, taking his time to survey the house he was approaching. Mr. Tresham, the mysterious stranger, came in, talked for a time with the owner of the house, peered into the various rooms, and then, satisfied that his prey was near, mounted his horse and rode off to Banbury, the town famous in Mother Goose rhymes.

Directly there came from a little room upstairs a rather frightened Princess Elizabeth, to thank her right good host, Laurence Washington, for his kindness, which she would never forget. Nor did she. For years afterward, when she was the great Queen Elizabeth, who had avoided "Bloody Queen" Mary's Mr. Tresham, she came back to Sulgrave to visit.

House Still Stands
Part of the old manor house still stands. I am standing in it, a plous pilgrim looking at the very window through which Laurence Washington peered.

Time seems to have stood still for these 370 years. The oak floors of the noble little hall shine as they shone then. The view over the fields is much the same. The village at Sulgrave has only grown from 150 to 350 in all that flight of time.

I am a pilgrim to the fountain place from whence came the sturdy men in whose lineage there was to spring the flower of them all—the Father of our Country. Even in those days the Washingtons were not inconsiderable people. They ranked as gentlemen and had their arms—three stars or mullets above and two bars below—from which we got our beautiful Stars and Stripes.

Laurence Washington, the far-away ancestor of George Washington, was successively a lawyer, a wool merchant and a politician. He was twice elected mayor of Northampton, in 1532 and 1545.

Probably the greatest moments in his life came when Queen Elizabeth visited him. He had bought Sulgrave Manor in 1539. The famous visit is supposed to have taken place in 1564 and to commemorate it the royal arms of England were erected over the doorway. Above them are the initials, "E. R."—Elizabeth Regina.

Change in Fortunes
When Laurence died in 1585 the property went to his son Robert, the last of the line to own it. The Washingtons had fallen on evil days. And after a while, a Washington, by that time Washington, moved to Virginia to change his fortunes.

The direct lines is as follows: Laurence's boy, Robert, had a son, Laurence Washington, who had a son, Rev. Laurence Washington, whose son, John, went to Virginia about 1655. This Virginia Washington had a son Laurence, father of Augustine, and this one had a son, our immortal George, born in 1732.

Sulgrave Manor was purchased in 1914 by a committee of English men and women and presented to the United States and England as a permanent memorial of the 100 years of peace between our two countries. The Colonial Dames of America are now trying to raise $100,000, with which permanently to endow the property and take care of it forever.

Wife Said She Would. Result, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

East Hardwick, Vermont.—"Last winter I was not able to do any work at all. I had backache, headache, sideache, and was sick all the time for six months. We read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers, and my husband said to me, 'Why don't you try it?' So I said I would and it has done me more good than I can ever tell, and my friends say, 'What have you done to yourself?' You look so well. I tell them it is the Vegetable Compound that makes me so well and strong. There is no use to suffer with backache and pains. I will tell every one what it has done for me."—Mrs. FRED. CITIES ASKED TO CONSERVE ON 'JUICE'

Edison Company Official Asks Orange Trustees To Defer Program

ORANGE, Feb. 20.—On account of the lack of water in the mountains to run the generating plants of the Southern California Edison company Southern California cities served by the company are being asked in the interest of safety to conserve electric power and use no more than is absolutely necessary.

Mr. Deimling, in charge of the Santa Ana branch of the company, told the city trustees at the regular meeting yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Deimling asked the trustees to defer any extension of the present lighting program until the situation has been remedied.

After the meeting was called to order, Mr. McDowell submitted plans for a subdivision in the northeast part of town, with a driveway through the center thirty feet, with rows of trees about twenty feet apart, to be lighted with ornamental lights about twenty-four in number.

The ordinance was approved by the Council, with the injunction to file proper bond for the curbing, paving and sewerage.

A petition was read from property owners asking the Council to close an alley between Pine and Harwood streets. This, however, was denied. Paving on Palm between Cambridge and Waverly was approved.

Council was petitioned for ornamental lights 150 feet apart, on North Center. The petition was granted.

Asks Water Connection.

Mr. Ford appeared before the Council and asked for permission to connect with the city water main just outside of the city limits, east of Glassell street, in order to get water for his cement mixing plant.

Mayor Gunther informed him that on account of the limited supply from the present water system, an ordinance was passed two years ago against any outside connection and he was sorry that they could not grant him this privilege, as others would want the same right.

Mr. Ford then informed the council that he was making a fill on his property, which would cut off or interfere with the city's drainage there, which would have to be looked after at once by the city.

He informed the council that he is perfectly willing for the city to make the proper improvements across his land. The street superintendent and the city engineer were named as a committee with authority to act at once.

The ordinance for the issuance of $40,000 bonds for the extension of the water system passed its first reading.

The ordinance for fire protection for hotels and rooming-houses, similar to the one in force in Santa Ana, will be drawn and will be presented at the next meeting of the Council.

To Lower Gas Pipes.

Mayor Gunther said that property owners had told him that the water superintendent was working on North Grand the gas meters and surface pipes were in very bad condition. He had requested Mr. Hayden of the gas company to be present that they might discuss the matter in a friendly way, and Mr. Hayden informed him that if the city engineer would give them the proper grade they would always have the pipes low enough to be safe and in good condition.

Mr. Bonebright said if they were placed 18 inches below the surface they would be at a point of safety. Mr. Hayden said that his company had always tried to work in harmony with the city and the matter was very satisfactorily adjusted.

The board then went into executive session to decide upon the merits of concrete and Wilhite paving. When the doors were thrown open again, it was announced that the Council had decided in favor of the former, and it was decided to make concrete seven inches thick on Palm, Maple, Shaffer and Cambridge streets, and six inches on the other streets that were now to be paved, and five inches on all alleys, with joints 33 1/3 feet apart.

An invitation was received from the Woman's Relief Corps of Santa Ana for the City Council to be present at the McKinley Memorial meeting at the Union High school in Santa Ana tonight at 8:00 o'clock. The Council then adjourned until next Tuesday.

MARCH 5 DATE FOR HEARING DR. BULLPIT

FULLERTON, Feb. 20.—City Recorder William French today set March 5, 9 a. m. as the time for hearing of the case of the People against Dr. J. M. Bullpit, Santa Ana physician, on a charge of driving an automobile at an excessive rate of speed through the streets of this city. The date for hearing of charges of disorderly conduct against the physician has not been set.

Hurrying to Patient, Arrested.

Dr. Bullpit was arrested by Motorcycle Officer Ross Rudy on a speeding charge as the physician was hurrying to the bedside of a Fullerton patient, where, it is alleged, he had been called in consultation.

Rudy alleges that Dr. Bullpit was exceeding the speed limit set by the state motor vehicle act.

On returning from the call at the home of the patient Bullpit is alleged to have stooped his automobile and approached a group of police officers, of which Rudy was a part, and used abusive language to the officer. Bullpit emphatically denies this charge.

He was placed under arrest and charged with disorderly conduct. Rudy took the physician to the Fullerton jail.

One Charge Dropped.

Rumors were prevalent that the Fullerton police intended prosecuting Dr. Bullpit on the additional charge of practicing here without having first obtained a city license. It is said that the State Medical society became interested in this phase of the case and intended to support the doctor in fighting this charge. According to Fullerton officials there will be no prosecution on this charge.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McIntosh, Mrs. L. B. BEACH MAN HURT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 20.—According to word received here today William H. Easley, of 215 Thirteenth street, this city, was in a critical condition at the Los Angeles hospital today, as a result of being hit by an automobile at Lomita, Sunday. Mr. Easley is a real estate man with the Patton Realty company and has been here for some time.

LA HABRA BABIES

LA HABRA, Feb. 20.—Old man stork has hovered low over La Habra recently. The latest youngster to arrive was a son to Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Counts. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Roberts of Hilbert court were made happy by the arrival of a son, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hester received a precious bundle containing a girl. These all arrived in the past few days.

Delicate Problem To Be Solved By Beach Officials

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 20.—Boy, page the adjuster! We ask you, who is to blame when a stone is dropped in the street, then hit by a pick wielded by a man employed by either the gas department or the street department, and then flies through a plate glass window?

Is it the fault of the man who dropped the stone? Is it the fault of the man who used the pick? The fault of the gas or street department? The fault of the stone for being there? Or is it the fault of the store for having a window? Or the fault of the city who employed the man?

Nearly one year ago a window in a local store was broken under similar circumstances and the above questions asked last night by members of the city council failed to reveal the guilty party. It was finally decided to have the superintendent meet with the superintendent of the street department and decide whether it was the stone, the store, the man, the pick, the city, the gas department, the street department, or the man who dropped the stone who is to blame for the broken window for which the store is asking the city for adjustment.

Talbert

TALBERT, Feb. 19.—An Epworth league business meeting was held at the church, one evening recently, and definite plans were arranged for a box supper to be held on the evening of Washington's birthday, Feb. 22. An invitation is extended to Bolsa and Greenville churches to join with the local society in the supper as the funds thus secured are to go for wiring the circuit parsonage for electricity.

Everyone is invited to attend and the ladies are requested to bring a box containing a lunch for two. The ladies' boxes will be sold for $1.00 each and the little girls' for 50c each.

The social is to be held at the S. E. Talbert home.

S. E. Talbert spent Saturday night and Sunday at Orange county park at the home of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin. As several of the family had birthday anniversaries near this date a house party had been planned and twenty-one were overnight guests at the Irwin home and on Sunday a big birthday dinner held in the park was attended by a large company.

Mrs. Hattie Talbert received a paper this week sent her from Madill, Okla., by Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Waldrep, who for four years were residents of this place when Rev. Waldrep was pastor of the local church.

It is over eight years since the Waldreps left here, going east at that time. The greater part of that time has been spent by them in Oklahoma. The paper received gives a full account of their church at Mahall; the membership, league and missionary societies, financial standing, etc.; in fact is a bulletin of everything connected with the work of the church for the past year.

It is several years since any one on this circuit last heard from Rev. and Mrs. Waldrep and their many friends are glad to know they are so favorably located.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harper and son, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Walker and daughter of Greenville were at Talbert Tuesday. Mr. Walker and small daughter, Maybelle, visited for the day with Mrs. Harvey Harper, while Mr. Walker assisted Mr. Harper in his garage.

Mrs. Spicer, who spent several days as a house guest at the Jesses home, returned Tuesday to Los Angeles, where she resides.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Walker of Greenville were at Talbert Tuesday. Mr. Walker and small daughter, Maybelle, visited for the day with Mrs. Harvey Harper, while Mr. Walker assisted Mr. Harper in his garage.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Gilbert and their family attended on Sunday an all day session of church service at the Nazarene church, Santa Ana. The family took a picnic lunch along which they enjoyed at the park.

Will Carter of Long Beach, who for some time, recently, was very low with inflammatory rheumatism, surprised relatives here with a visit Sunday. A friend drove Mr. Carter over and both men were dinner guests that evening at the S. E. Talbert home.

COOLIDGE MEN TO MEET IN FULLERTON

Endorsement of Chapman For Vice President Is Expected

FULLERTON, Feb. 20.—Members of the Orange County Coolidge-for-President club have been notified of a meeting of that organization tomorrow night in McFarland's Cafe, this city, for the purpose of endorsing the candidacy of C. C. Chapman as running mate for Calvin Coolidge on the Republican ticket.

The calling of the meeting was decided on late yesterday following the widespread approval of the candidacy of Mr. Chapman as set forth in an editorial appearing recently in an Orange county monthly publication.

Comments Favorable.

The news that Mr. Chapman's name had been advanced as a possible running mate for President Coolidge was broadcast to newspapers throughout the United States. The comment of Los Angeles and other Southern California newspapers was particularly favorable to his candidacy.

When interviewed at his home yesterday regarding the setting forth of his name as vice-presidential timber, Mr. Chapman said, "I am exceedingly appreciative of the honor which has been conferred upon me through the advancing of my name as a candidate for vice-president."

"It would indeed be a great honor to become Mr. Coolidge's running mate. I hadn't thought of entering active politics but I could not be unmindful of the honor."

The meeting tomorrow night has been called for Fullerton because this is Mr. Chapman's home city. With the endorsement of the Orange county organization presented at the state convention to be held in San Francisco next week, it is believed that the California delegation to the national convention in Cleveland in June will go pledged to support the Fullerton philanthropist and Orange grower for second place on the ticket.

Southern California

HOLTVILLE. — This city has joined Calexico, El Centro, Imperial and Brawley in passing a strict milk ordinance for city deliveries. Inspection will be closely observed. The technical requirements for milk and cream are recited in the ordinance, which is practically the same as for the rest of the Valley.

RIVERSIDE.—An apple grower's conference, to be held probably in Beaumont or in some other locality where the production of apples is an important industry in Riverside County, is being planned by Stanley Rogers of the State department of agriculture, A. E. Bottel, county horticultural commissioner, and M. M. Winslow, county farm adviser. The date probably will be in March.

CORONA.—Members of the Riverside County and Corona Chambers of Commerce will meet in joint session in this city at the local booster headquarters the afternoon and evening of February 19. A visit to the Exchange Lemon Products plant and the United Chemical plant will be followed in the evening by a banquet, which Dr. Walter F. Dexter, Whittier College president, will make the chief address.

BRAWLEY.—Cattlemen estimate that there are more feeders in Imperial Valley today than there have been before since 1919. The barley yield apparently is to be heavy, although the acreage has not materially increased. Alfalfa acreage is coming along steadily, although barley is the pasture available for the feeders. The Vail company and J. Lewis in the north end are handling more cattle than ever before and they are rapidly coming into prime condition. Other "feeder men" are reporting the same situation.

SAN BERNARDINO.—Greatest area of land ever offered for sale in San Bernardino County will be auctioned off here on March 6. A total of 295,000 acres, a vast empire, is for sale by the State of California. The property is vacant school land and all of it on the desert. Terms of the sale are 10 per cent cash, the balance bearing 6 per cent interest.

BANK OFFICIAL JAILED
WEBSTER, S. D., Feb. 20.—Sheriff Buhler arrested R. L. Nordness of Lily, an official of the Farmers Home Bank of Lily, which closed, on a warrant charging him with "knowingly permitting shareholders of the bank to become indebted to the bank in an amount exceeding 50 per cent of the capital stock." His preliminary hearing will be conducted here Friday. The Lily bank was closed some months ago, and now is in the hands of the state bank department.

PRINCETON FORGER CAUGHT
HAYTI, S. D., Feb. 20.—J. A. McDonald of Princeton, Minn., pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery in the third degree in circuit court here and was fined the cost of the case and given a jail term of eight months, which was suspended. McDonald was arrested last fall when he cashed a worthless check at a Castlewood bank.

STARS GUARD PRESTIGE AS MANAGERS

How Ty Cobb Refused to Trade For Ehmke, Later Sent Him to Boston

CLEVELAND, Feb. 20.—Star players who also essay managerial roles are decidedly skeptical when it comes to making deals with each other. Were it not for this fact Howard Ehmke would now be a member of the Cleveland Indians instead of the Boston Red Sox.

Two years back, when Tris Speaker heard that Cobb had weakened on Ehmke, lost confidence in the big pitcher's ability to deliver, the Cleveland manager made overtures to the Tygers for him.

Cobb Wanted Morton
At that time Guy Morton was pitching good ball for Cleveland and Cobb was rather strong for the Alabama twirler. Speaker was willing to turn him over, but the surface it seemed that Cobb was getting the edge, since Morton at the time was pitching far better ball than Ehmke.

Speaker, however, was willing to gamble with Ehmke, believing that he had greater possibilities. Cleveland the year previous had won the American league pennant. The hope was that if Speaker could bolster up his pitching staff, he had a good chance to repeat. The Cleveland manager felt that he could make Ehmke into a winner, that he might mean another pennant.

Called Deal Off
Cobb must have got the same thought about the same time, for he called the deal off just when it seemed settled. And for two years he carried Ehmke, who was nothing more than excess baggage, fearing that under Speaker Ehmke would come into his own.

What is more, Cleveland didn't win the pennant in 1921. And shortly after Cobb called off the deal Morton lost his winning ways.

Billy Evans SAYS
Champions in any sport in order to hold their title must have that indefinable thing called class. In a sense, class is delivering in the pinch. In the fight game, champions in the various classes often look very ordinary in exhibition bouts. Every now and then some dud shades a champion. But with the old title at stake, the champ invariably shows his class and thrusts aside the leading contenders for his crown.

It is in the pinch, when everything is at stake, that the real champion comes through. Class will tell, is a sport adage that usually holds good.

There is the case of Johnny Dundee for instance. Dundee, always a great fighter, didn't get his big opportunity until late in life. He won the featherweight championship after he had been in the fight game more than a dozen years. While his defeat of Crigal for the title was unexpected, yet it was the unusual. It is a number of no-doubt bouts in which Dundee has engaged since winning the featherweight crown he has looked very ordinary. Many of the critics pronounced him through. When he agreed to meet Pal Moran, contender for the lightweight title, the impression among fight followers was that Dundee would be knocked.

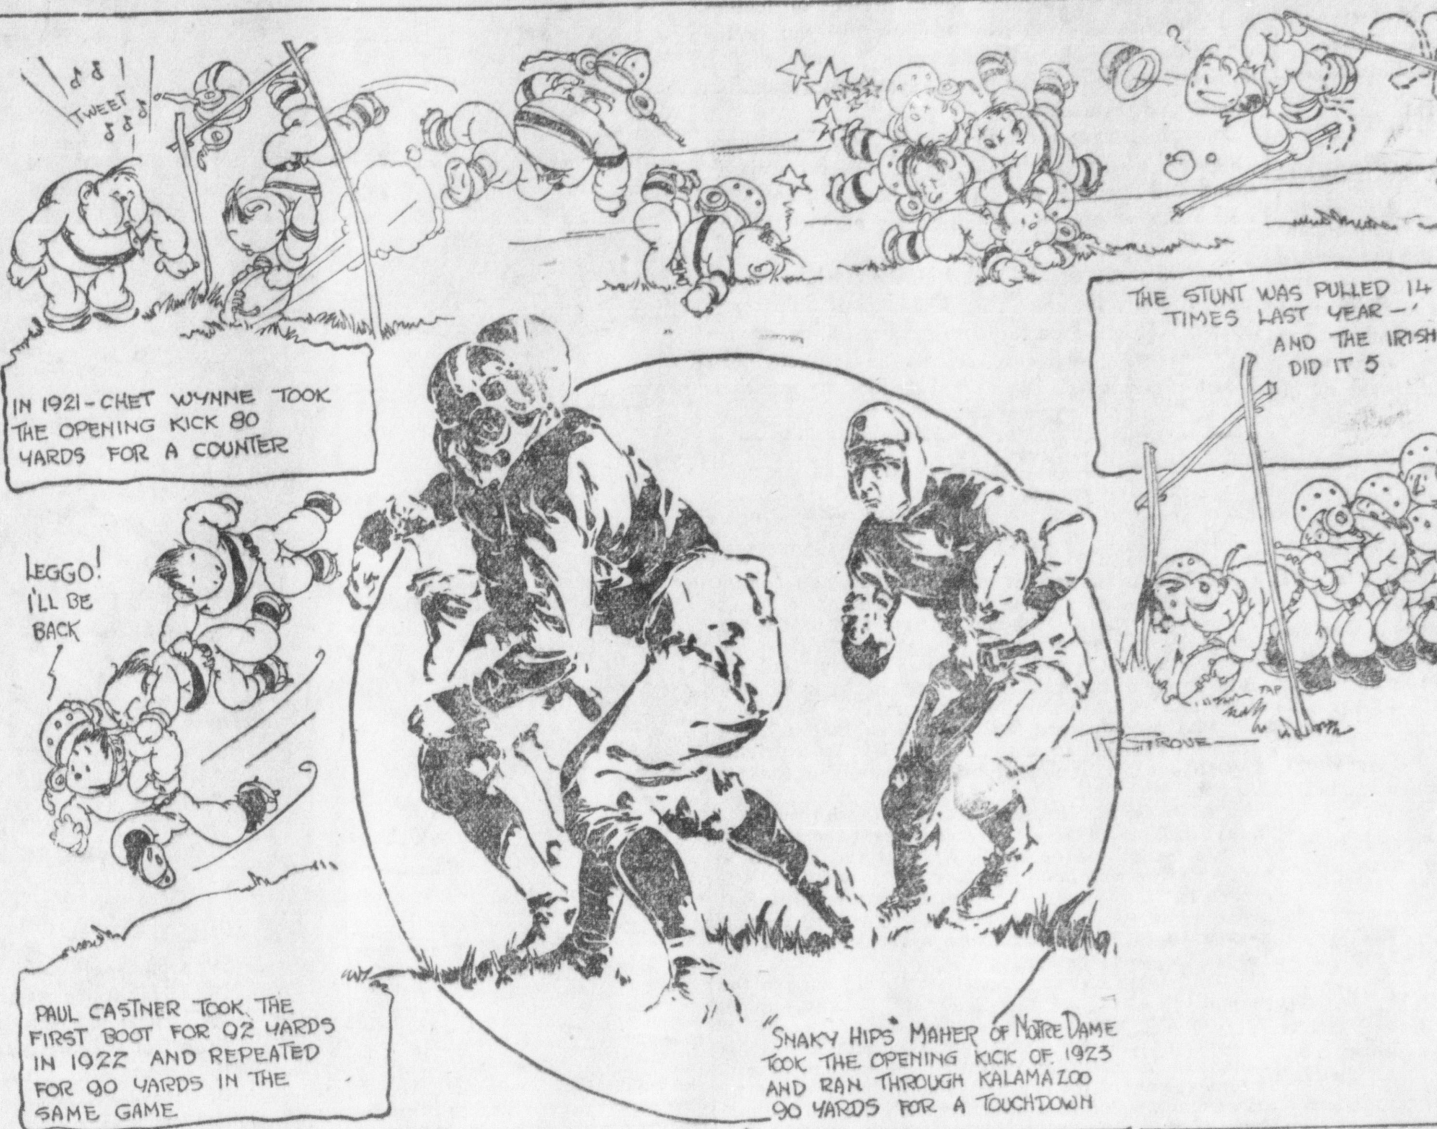

Class told the story in the Moran bout. Dundee, carefully trained for the occasion, swept aside any claim that Moran might have had for a Leonard bout, by winning easily.

No champion typifies the meaning of class better than Willie Hoppe, billiard king. For years and years Hoppe has reigned supreme in the billiard world. With the limit to retain his title. With the exception of one meeting with Jake Schaefer, he has always emerged victor. During the past three months, in quick succession, he twice disposed of Welker Cochran, and once, Jake Schaefer, in championship matches.

Hoppe has the class. He always raises to the occasion in the crisis. He is at his best when hard pressed. It seems the tougher the going, the better Hoppe plays.

Recently, after defeating Jake Schaefer in a title match, the champion and his leading contender played a series of exhibitions in the larger cities. In this tour with Schaefer, Hoppe on several occasions showed why he has ruled the billiard world for so many years. In one 400-point game, with Schaefer leading him 370 to 19, he ran 313 and then went out in the next frame to victory. His grand average for 10,000 points was better than 55. Hoppe has the class. He's a real champion.

O'ROURKE'S CHARGE DENIED BY RICKARD

Promoter Says Commission Approves Ticket Sale of Dempsey-Firpo Fight

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Tex Rickard, New York's leading boxing promoter, denied emphatically today the charges made in Albany yesterday by Tom O'Rourke, former deputy boxing commissioner, that he had turned over $135,000 worth of tickets for the Dempsey-Firpo fight last fall to speculators.

Rickard said that the only tickets left after the fight had been staged were those of $20 and $15 denominations, which he said, were always the hardest to sell.

O'Rourke, who was connected with the Polo grounds club at the time, charged before a legislative committee that Rickard turned back $135,000 worth of seats that could have been sold at the box office.

Rickard said this morning that the boxing commission had gone over and had approved his account for the fight, and that he had nothing to fear. While it had been hinted around for several days that O'Rourke was ready to "spill a big scandal," it was a big surprise when he took a shot at Rickard, as it was understood that he had his gun aimed at a former member of the commission.

SPORTS of all SORTS

Pat Moran doesn't like the talk going round that his Cincinnati Reds are just as good as in with the 1924 National League pennant.

The genial leader of the 1919 champions isn't a Gil Dobbie by any means, but he perhaps fears that some nasty cracks may be made next fall if he fails to get into the world's series.

It is a bad idea to get rabid fans sold to the idea that their team can't lose.

Moran admits that he has a better team than he finished in second place with last year and perhaps he would be willing to grant that the Giants are not a strong, but he is smart enough to realize that even a powerful team must get some of the breaks. Bad luck that resulted from illness and injuries got the Reds away to a very poor start last season and it was only by a mid-season drive that they were able to land in second place.

The Reds look mighty good now, but Moran is right in maintaining that it isn't a cinch for them by any means and that he is gambling on pitchers.

If Carl May has a good season and if Jake May and Tom Sheehan go as good for him as they went in the minor leagues, it is quite possible that the Reds could lead from start to finish. The regular run of fans, knowing how skilled Moran is in handling and developing pitchers, feel that this three pitching gambles will go through for him.

John McGraw has also strengthened the Giant pitching staff by the recruiting of three minor league pitchers. The Giants had enough minor league pitching last season. What they need is some major league hurling.

The Reds are taking a chance on Jake Daubert at first base, but the Giants are also gambling on Heinie

When "Snaky-hips" Maher took the opening kickoff of the 1923 season and ran through the Kalamazoo team 90 yards for a touchdown, he hung up a record. It was the third consecutive season that a Notre Dame back, ran through a Kalamazoo team in the opening game of the year for a touchdown.

In 1921 Chet Wynne, Irish fullback, took the opening kick and scored 80 yards for a counter. In 1922 Paul Castner, also a fullback, returned the first boot 92 yards for a counter and later in the same game repeated the offense for 90 yards. He almost repeated against the Army, but the safety man caught him after a 50-yard return.

Maher narrowly missed another record. After his sensational run he grabbed the next kickoff and returned 5 yards to midfield where he was stopped by the safety man.

Notre Dame excels in returning kickoffs for touchdowns. The stunt was pulled just 14 times last year and the Irish did it five times—Castner's two in the opening game, Don Miller's run against St. Louis, Corney's against De Pauw and Maher against Butler completed the list. Snaky-hips clipped through the Butler outfit for 88 yards.

With speed merchants like Crowley, Miller, Layden and Stuhldreher in the backfield, the Irish record of five perfect returns last year may be challenged again.

Whittier hangs on the precarious edge of the Southern California Intercollegiate conference as far as basketball is concerned. The Quakers meet Redlands tonight at Whittier, and if the Baptists should happen to win, which they probably will not, it would put Whittier out of the title race.

U. S. C. B. plays tonight in its easiest game of the season—with lowly Occidental. It seems more and more certain each day that the Cubs will take the championship. The only hard games on the Southern Branch schedule for the rest of the season are two with Whittier. It does not seem likely that the Quakers will take both contests from the undefeated Cubs.

Pomona's ambitious five journeys to Caltek for the evening and probably will not have much difficulty with the Engineers.

It is said that the largest piece of jade in the world is that in the American Museum of Natural History, in New York. At first glance it looks almost as large as Plymouth Rock; actually it is seven feet long and four feet wide.

More than two games. Brooklyn didn't win a game from Ryan, Adams, Genewich or Mitchell. The Cubs were stopped every time that Stuart, Bentley and Pfeiffer went on the mound against them. Adams and Meadows were the only pitchers who did not lose to the Reds.

The Phils didn't win a single game off Ryan, Alexander, Aldridge, Haines, Donohue, Benton, Neff, Grimes, McQuillan, Pfeiffer, Barnes, Marquard or Hamilton. Pittsburgh was stopped by Kean, Vance and Mitchell and the Cubs failed to win from Benton, Neff, Reuther, Genewich or Behan.

Joe Oeschler, of Boston, according to the records, has the season's losing record of ten consecutive games, while Vance led with the same number of consecutive victories.

Luque, the star of the Cincinnati Reds and the best pitcher of the season, didn't lose a game to Boston or St. Louis. He dropped three games to the Giants, two to the Cubs, and one each to Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

BEAR FIVE WINS EASY TILT FROM TROJANS, 25-16

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—University of Southern California has little chance to take the second basketball game from California five tonight, dopsters figure, since the Trojans were handed a 25 to 16 walloping last night in the first contest of the two-game conference series. Without the services of Gordon Campbell, the Trojans were pitifully weak in teamwork, lacking a concentrated attack or effective defense. What points they gained were made more by individuals than by any system.

California five was the exact antithesis. The 20 carat Bear defense was polished and flashy, completely dazzling the home lads. When U. S. C. had the ball, which wasn't often in the second half, five California men formed the defense, Ken Boyer, easily star of the Trojan team, was so closely guarded it was seldom he got to shoot except from back of the foul line.

Bear Defense Strong. Aside from teamwork, California's best feature was its crack defense. The visitors took the lead from the initial whistle, and never did the Trojans catch up. During the first half, the score was somewhat closer than in the second period. First half score: California 12; U. S. C. 11. Valiantly the Trojans struggled to get the lead, but it was hopeless, as they were outclassed.

The Berkeley men were going even better in the second half, getting their shots off quicker and more accurately. Boyer and Ken Boyer were prevented from even threatening to shoot. Gene Dorsey at guard did some noble work for U. S. C., but he was not nearly up to the caliber of Belasco, California guard. Belasco is one of those rare guards who can run the floor well. He dribbled down the court through a host of Trojan attackers several times and slipped the ball through the net.

Three thousand people jammed into the too-small pavilion—the largest crowd which ever attended a Trojan basketball contest.

EVENING SALUTATION
Then whistle a bit if the day be dark
And the sky be overcast;
If mute be the voice of the piping lark,
Why, pipe your own small blast.

And it's wonderful how o'er the gray sky-track
The truant warbler comes stealing back;
But why need he come, for your soul's at rest,
And the song in the heart, ah, that is best!

JOHNSON WILL WIN

JOHNSON FOR CALIFORNIA; CALIFORNIA FOR JOHNSON. In this slogan alone is good and all-sufficient reason why California Republicans should support Hiram W. Johnson for the presidential nomination.

And Hiram Johnson is going to win California! He has done it in every campaign in which he has been a candidate, and he will do it again this year. California is, above everything else, loyal to its own people and to its own interests. That loyalty alone will elect the Johnson delegates.

California cannot afford to destroy the prestige that Senator Johnson has brought to this state. Not only loyalty, but enlightened selfishness regarding its welfare and its reputation require that there be no repudiation or backsliding after all these years of worthy endeavor and magnificent accomplishment.

Regardless of what takes place elsewhere, and no matter what other commonwealths may or may not do, this state will stand by its favorite son and fight for him to the finish. The voters of California are not going to desert the man who has done so much in making their state known throughout the world as a land thrice-blessed by prosperity, peace and good government.

Johnson for California—California for Johnson. And Hiram Johnson will win California!

SYMPATHETIC CONSIDERATION

The instances that have been cited recently in which workmen have been taken away from jobs in order to save sick folk the annoyance of noise is a matter of interest and congratulation.

We have gotten so used to thinking of public service corporations as "soulless" that we have come actually to believe that they are. Whether public service corporations the country over deserve the reputation we are not prepared to say. We do know, however, that the public service corporations with which residents of Orange county have to deal are uniformly considerate and thoughtful.

The guiding principles of courtesy and good service are to be found in our railroads, our light and power, our gas and our telephone companies. These principles are emphasized in the personal dealings of the managers, and the spirit of the managers goes on down through their organizations.

And the spirit of courtesy and consideration found in the public service corporations is to be found in the city's municipal service. A few weeks ago the city blocked a street from traffic in order to better the chances of a sick man for recovery.

That kind of thing is a good example for the rest of us. There is nothing quite so important in the office and the home, on street cars and on the street—anywhere and everywhere—as consideration and sympathy and thoughtfulness.

IT'S TIME YOU REGISTERED

The time for registration is slipping by, and a large percentage of the voters have not officially enrolled themselves to qualify for this year's elections. All qualified electors should be in mind:

- (1) That a complete new registration is being made. Unless you have registered since January 1 of this year you must re-register in order to vote.
- (2) Registration enabling electors to vote at the presidential primary, May 6, closes on April 6.
- (3) In order to vote at the presidential primary the party affiliation must be given.
- (4) Those who decline to state their party preference, or register as Progressive, cannot vote at the presidential primary.

WE MUST DECIDE

A question of importance that it would seem expedient for Santa Ana to decide soon is—
Shall we adopt the Community Chest plan of raising funds for perennial charitable and community service work?

In fact, we seem to be pushed towards prompt decision of this question by the action of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors, which, on January 24, adopted the following resolution:

WHEREAS there has been considerable discussion of a plan to combine charity drives into one annual drive for funds, and

WHEREAS a Community Chest plan whereby an annual budget is worked out and subscriptions taken to cover same is meeting with success and satisfaction in many cities; therefore be it

RESOLVED by the Santa Ana Board of Realtors, with 130 members in good standing at our regular Friday noon luncheon assembled, January 25, 1924, that we favor a Community Chest budget system on an annual basis, and hereby pledge that from and after March 1, 1924, we shall subscribe to community welfare funds only on the Annual Community Chest Budget System.

Now the point is, that if the realtors, after March first, "shall subscribe to community welfare funds only on the Annual Community Chest budget system," the city will be badly handicapped in undertaking to raise such funds in any other way or on any other basis or plan. And until the community as a whole either adopts or rejects the Community Chest plan the realtors will undoubtedly stand pat on the resolution they have adopted. Inquiry among them brings out the expression, "We meant just what we said in that resolution."

And the realtors are not alone in their attitude in this matter. Although no other civic organization has taken formal action, the question has been discussed by most of them, and there is quite a strong sentiment in favor of the Community Chest plan.

But the Register is not urging the adoption of this plan, so much as it is urging a decision of the question one way or the other. Unless a decision is reached very soon we are going to have trouble. Right now we are about to enter on the annual drive for funds for Boy Scout work. If the Realtors refuse to subscribe, others will feel that they are called upon for an inequitable proportion of the whole and therefore will subscribe reluctantly or not at all. So it will be with other drives to come later.

Thus the necessity for a decision of the question of the Community Chest plan becomes apparent.

The Register favors the plan, but it does not urge its adoption. We realize that the plan is not perfect and that its adoption would present difficulties and complications—at least temporarily—during the transition period. Fundamentally and finally, however, we believe the plan is systematic, scientific, economical, equitable.

However, what we believe is of little importance compared with what the people believe; for however sound and scientific the plan may be it will not work well if the people do not thoroughly understand and fully accept it.

But we must decide. The luncheon clubs, men's brotherhoods, the Ebell club, Chamber of Commerce, M. and M. could perform no greater public service just now, with such ease, celerity and without cost, than to investigate, discuss and decide this question.

Fall a Wrecked Man

Pasadena Star-News

Contemplate the picture painted in the news dispatches from El Paso, dated February 16. Albert B. Fall returned to his home "a broken old man who needed a hair cut and shave badly." His homecoming was desolate, as contrasted with former returnings was of no consequence—met him at the station. "The former New Mexico senator was carried off the train by two Pullman porters, aided by a trained nurse and ex-Governor George Curry, of New Mexico, who accompanied him from Washington." Senator Fall shuffled from the station, left by a private way to avoid the curious, when home and took to his bed.

"It was a far different Albert Fall who returned today, broken in body and a nervous wreck. No reception committee or bands were at the station to greet him as was done so many times when he was active in New Mexico politics. No local politicians greeted him. * * * Mrs. Fall is recovering from a nervous breakdown said to have resulted from the Teapot Dome investigation."

Here is an object lesson that should engage the thoughtful attention of all. Albert B. Fall, up to a few months ago, held the confidence and esteem of the country. But the manner of his reception in his home city on Saturday indicates the change in sentiment toward him. He has condemned himself by his own admission in connection with the oil scandal. Even though there may not have been outright corruption, there was that which is inexcusable and intolerable in a high official of the national government. If Albert B. Fall had shaped his course more in accordance with the fitness of things as pertaining to his solemn duty and high responsibility to the American people, he would not be the broken man he is today.

Let Congress Authorize It

Fresno Republican

President Coolidge is quite right to put up to Congress the responsibility for ordering an air trip to the North Pole.

It is not a responsibility which any President should take to himself as an executive order.

The expense involved is not the real question. Rather it is the lives of the men concerned. The executive has a right to order men in war, or those enlisted for service in time of peace, to undertake hazards required for the safety of the nation, or for the proper execution of laws.

But a search for the Pole calls for no such order.

This is purely exploration. It involves grave danger to the crew of the airship. It is not an errand of mercy, or of national defense. It is not a routine carrying out of conduct of the department, such as would be involved in the daily flights or in cross country expeditions.

These air trips are going to be more and more daring. And doubtless Polar exploration is demanded by the adventuresomeness of the people of the United States. Doubtless there are plenty of men in the air service willing to take the additional risk.

But Congress ought to underwrite the adventure.

Advertise Farm Products

Riverside Enterprise

The Illinois Grange recommends that farmers advertise their products as one method of solving "farm problems."

The telephone and the classified advertising pages of the newspapers used with discretion and the same faith and understanding which business men display in advertising their products, could be of inestimable value to the farmer who had the courage to use them.

Why should a farmer not utilize modern selling methods in disposing of his products direct to consumers? The automobile makes delivery or farm gate sales profitable and rapid. Business methods will do more than the old methods to solve the farmer's problems, and the Illinois Grange is to be commended for its progressive action.

That Body of Yours

CHRONIC APPENDICITIS

A patient tried to persuade himself that he had a cancer or ulcer of the intestine.

He outlined all his symptoms to his physician who pointed out that he hadn't an ulcer because there was no pain at any definite regular time after eating. He could not have cancer because he had pain only at times, he was not losing any weight, nor vomiting, and his color was normal.

He was so persistent that to satisfy him the physician had him undergo an X-Ray meal.

Nothing abnormal showed that would indicate an ulcer or a cancer, but when the meal got into the region of the appendix there seemed to be considerable delay, almost a stoppage for awhile.

A diagnosis of chronic appendicitis was made, and at the operation the appendix was apparently lost.

The operator was an unusually clever surgeon, a professor of surgery in fact. He said "I'll find it all right, but it has certainly been walling off from all the other organs."

You see there is a natural covering or fold over the organs called the peritoneum, and a loose portion of this simply spread itself over and around the inflamed appendix to prevent the inflammation from spreading. This caused a little kinking of the intestine which slowed up the passage of the food, and likely caused some of the pain complained of. The point about this is that you might have an inflamed appendix, causing severe pain.

If the appendix were not walled off in this manner, the inflammation products would escape and inflame the surrounding tissues, causing serious complications, even death.

This chap must have had repeated attacks of a mild form of infection in his appendix and Nature had kept walling it off for him.

Had the operation not been performed a severe attack, or his own lowered resistance might have meant an emergency operation, with only a fair chance of recovery.

Now although most pains in the region of the appendix are due to gas, which you can distinguish by its moving to other parts of the body, nevertheless an X-Ray meal and your doctor's orders, will clear up the matter if you are in doubt. (Metropolitan Newspaper Service.)

Held for InvestigationWhat Advertising Will Do

San Francisco Journal

A writer in a recent number of Editor and Publisher Magazine took for his theme the declaration that newspaper advertising judiciously done will sell any meritorious article for which a demand can be created, and do so in a volume to pay handsome dividends upon the cost. He illustrates his point with the case of the sale of credit indemnity insurance as issued by the American Credit Indemnity Company. This is a form of insurance that until very recently was practically unknown to most business men. The idea that it was feasible for any company to issue a policy guaranteeing that a merchant's customers would pay their bills seemed so revolutionary that business men were slow to accept it.

No one ever marveled at or scouted fire insurance. The idea is so obvious that it did not need to be "sold" to the public. It was accepted on its own merits as a matter of course. But last year the credit losses of business were over two hundred and fifty million dollars greater than the fire losses. By every test of common sense the need for credit insurance is pressing. Fires at the worst are not so very frequent. But credit losses occur wherever credit business is done. The danger of being wiped out by such losses is not so great, because the risk is spread around so much that it would be virtually impossible for a merchant to score a total loss; but he is sure to score some loss, and it is with this percentage of loss that credit indemnity insurance deals.

This company attributes its great success in the sale of this class of insurance chiefly to the merit of newspaper advertising. In a very short time its solicitors have been able to increase the average premium receipt almost tenfold. Where formerly premiums averaged a few hundreds of dollars they are now thousands. All this has been due to the intelligent presentation of the merits of credit insurance through the medium of daily newspaper advertising. The moral of this story is that the same thing can be done with any other line of honest goods. What has been once done can be done again. That is one story of the success in selling an unfamiliar class of goods by intelligently presenting the case to the reader. This is the foundation of all success in advertising, and the results obtained are the surest guarantee of the continuous success of the business.

Must I, like Adam, leave the enchanted woods?
And shall I hear their calls no more?
Shall ne'er the dove's reiterative note
Murmur of sanctuary at the open door?

Shall I no longer tread the winter hush
Of leaves the lavish Autumn spread?
Will that live incense crucible in sleep,
Sleep for me now for ever in the dead?

Will Spring once more about the larches play
Like children kissing, being kissed,
And I ne'er see the birches' naked limbs
Flush to the Spring and vanish in green mist?

If I should knock at the Cathedral doors
Will there no verged woodsman win
Consent from Summer robed and mitred priest
And to the choral Benediction let me in?

May I no more with sacrificial fires
Stand suppliant at Autumn's gate?
Must I with empty brazier turn away
And be for ever excommunicate?

We Will Watch This

San Bernardino Sun

Long Beach wants a county, all by itself, perhaps a consolidated city and county government, but at any rate, the beach city threatens to break from Los Angeles if it can find the way. The disquieting feature of the situation for the Angelenos might be the announced support of Governor Richardson, who is quoted in the Long Beach papers as advising such a course. The differences have been simmering for years, but what has happened in the last month with reference to the Long Beach ambitions for a Superior Court of its own has brought things to the boiling point. The last legislature authorized the establishing of a department of the Los Angeles superior court at Long Beach, as a matter of convenience to litigants. The appellate court has decreed the act unconstitutional—special legislation. Governor Richardson said at the time he signed the bill he doubted the constitutionality. Now the Long Beach folks say this is the last straw. They decline longer to be dragged at the Los Angeles chariot wheels. They are determined to have a county of their own. Or, as the Long Beach Telegram puts it:

There is this much compensation for the decision by the court of appeals adverse to the Long Beach department of the Superior Court: If we are deprived of all the ameliorations that make tolerable our lot as dependents on Los Angeles for functions of county government this community will cast off its tame spirit of resignation and make a two-fisted fight for a separate county. There are many political and legal obstacles in the way, but they are not insurmountable by a district which has the population, the wealth and the civic energy of Long Beach and its tributary country. Long Beach county will come, and the worse our situation in the present county, the earlier will be the date of its advent.

During the week Governor Richardson has been in Long Beach—it is and has been his home in the summer for many seasons—and apropos of the court decision he gave the following frank advice: The thing for you people to do if you want an independent jurisdiction in Long Beach is to go to work and have a new county carved out of Los Angeles county.

All the rest of California is immediately interested, and will want to know whether any changes in the present general statute governing county division are to be made. If the law is not to be amended, we are not concerned. They may have as many divisions of Los Angeles county as the voters of that county are willing to approve. If to effect the division in which Long Beach is interested the law is to be changed, we are very much interested. So is every other county in California. The present law on the subject insures the integrity of every county, and it may not be divided unless the proposal is so meritorious as to be approved not only by the voters of the new county but by the voters of the old county also. That law was put on the books 20 years ago by former Senator H. M. Willis, who represented this district in the upper house at Sacramento, it was the result of agitation and two strenuous county division campaigns in the interest of a county with Pomona as its county seat, and the east line of the proposed county would have been approximately the west line of what is now Fontana. Since that law was enacted there has been no county division in California, and we suspect that not only would there be strenuous objection to any change in it now on the part of Los Angeles, but also in about 57 other counties which figure rightly that as long as it is on the books there will be no threat to dismember them in the interest of newer ambitions for county divisions. If the Long Beachers can work out their proposed division with the consent of Los Angeles they will succeed. Otherwise, it might be otherwise. We do not wonder at their dissatisfaction with some of the conditions, although this court matter is one of cold-blooded law. But the stars are not just now favorable to county division movements in California.

For Grown Ups

A new era is dawning in philanthropy, says Frederick P. Keppel, president of Carnegie Corporation. The community trust fund plan has already been adopted in more than 40 cities in this country. It is an old institution, but it takes on a modern form. Society in the Middle Ages was familiar with huge endowments, but their administration was strictly limited by the will of the donors. It is said that during the reign of Henry VIII half the wealth of England was in the form of endowments, mostly ecclesiastical, and hence limited in the application and administration.

Russell Sage expressed the modern idea when he left not only great wealth but freedom of control at the discretion of the trustees of the Sage Foundation. Experience shows that institutions and social needs change so rapidly that wealth left to the discretion of trustees, representing and responsible to their community, does more good than when its administration is controlled by the dead hand.

What effect will these community trusts or "foundations" have on higher institutions of learning is a question brought up by the new era of philanthropy. They are likely to absorb many of the endowments that now go to the universities thinks Mr. Keppel. One great merit of these trust funds is that "they let the little folks in," as well as the rich who care to place their wealth at the service of their communities. Being community affairs, it seems likely that these foundations will be used more to develop adult and extension education than to support universities, which will have to look largely to their own alumni.

The community trust fund promotes a new era in philanthropy, and with its advent education may come to be regarded as less a monopoly of youth and more a privilege of adult life.—Minneapolis Journal.

NO. 2—UP THE BEANSTALK

Nancy and Nick were hiding behind a big log in Beanstalk Land, for they had seen a giant coming. Clap, clap, clatter, clatter in big wooden shoes.

They were afraid of being stepped upon, so they hid.

But what did the Giant do but sit right down on the log when he reached it.

He was a Dutch Giant and he wore, not only great wooden shoes, but loose, baggy trousers with great patches and a funny short coat. And his pockets were big enough to hold a windmill.

"Oh, where can my leedle dog have gone?" he panted. "I had hunted and hunted and cannot find him. His ears were so cute and short and his tail was so cute and long, once. Oh, my poor leedle dog! He must be lost!"

Suddenly the Twins heard a noise like the stamping of a hundred cows, and out from some huge bushes rushed a creature that looked as though one of the Rocky Mountains had grown a crop of hair and decided to take a journey. And it was making a noise much, much louder than the wooden shoes had done.

"Oh, there you are!" cried the Dutch Giant happily. "Where have you been, you leedle rascal? Come here, Snap." And he cracked his fingers like thunder. The Twins saw the dog coming right at them. They weren't a bit frightened. For Silver Wing had told them that Beanstalk Land was a perfectly safe place, and that only jolly giants lived there. But she hadn't said a word about the jolly giants' dogs, and it might be possible that

So holding tight to the cloth of his funny short coat, the Twins scrambled into one of his big square pockets.

Snap was hungry and started to smell around his master's clothes for a piece of weeny or bologna.

And the first thing Nancy and Nick knew, a great wet nose began to sniffle and sniffle all over them and blow its hot breath down like a porpoise into the giant's pocket.

"Oh, goodness!" gasped Nancy. "Jimmy!" gasped Nick.

"Ah, ha! You got fooled that time!" roared the funny giant. "The other is the one! That was the empty pocket! See, I know you, Mister Curiosity!"

And the giant put his hand into his pocket where the Twins were—and found—what do you think? Nancy and Nick, of course! He pulled them out and set them on his knee.

"Fee, fi, fum, fo, 'Who are you, I'd like to know,' he cried, his eyes as round as dollars. 'Get away, Snap.'"

"We're Nancy and Nick, the Twins," shouted Nick as loudly as he could.

"You don't say!" declared the giant. "Well, well, well! You shall home with me go. I'd like first rate to have two twins for pets. Come Snap!"

And off they started. (To Be Continued) (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)
